there are not so many theatres there.

GOOD ACTORS SCARCE

While the street corners along Broadway, New York, are lined with idle actors with ability there is a demand for them in Celifornia. In speaking to me on this subject, one well known manager, whose conservatism is one of his chief characteristics, estimated that there are at the present time in San Francisco alone openings for more than two hundred actors of both sexes.

ALLUREMENTS

ALLUREMENTS

There are many things to allure the actor to California.

First, the equable climate makes it possible to keep all the theatres open three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. That means a fifty-two weeks' uninterrupted engagement. The climate, too, is delightful and one may sit comfortably and complacently in the sunshine the year round and read despatches of blizzards that the up traffic in the frozen east, or, perhaps, list of heat prostrations in eastern cities (everything on the sunrise side of the Rockies is called the east out here) with illustrations depicting the broiling, baking, deserted streets.

In Los Angeles the gayest of gay crowds may always be found at the Palace or Bristol cafes after the show. It is only a few minutes' run to Venice, Plaza del Reh, or the of the Pacific.

In San Francisco there is the Flesta (formerly Tait's), Zinkand's, The Louve, Marchand's, Goodfellow's Grotto, The Poolle Dog, Oampis, Techan's Tavern and the Art Cafe, with their excellent music, their Hungarian or their Hawaiian singers and their excellent chefs. This has had its effect in reducing the Orpheum prices to the ten-cent admission basis for a small portion of the house. In the regular ten-cent houses three or four shows are given each day, and as many as nine performances are put on on Saturdays and Sundays.

The recent differences between the managers and agents of these houses and the performers grew out of the fact that more performances were required than the performers thought they had contracted for.

"Diavolo" Carter's Experience

With Harmston's-Every Performance a Function, With Performers as Hosts and People as Guests.

N interesting letter from J. C. Carter (Diavolo), who is Looping-the-Loop with Harmston's Circus, now touring india, will prove entertaining to many showmen in America:

BOMBAY, Jan. 20, 1906.

Editor of The Billboard,

Dear Sir—Circus life in the East, like all things Oriental, is quite a leisurely existence as compared to the strenuous one-night stands at home in America. Out here the show moves form scaport to scaport by special steamer, or from city to city by special train, and a month or six weeks is the usual scason in one city. It is a life of case compared to the hustle of an American circus.

The relationship between artists, performers, proprietor and staff is more like that of a large family, and, when the front door is thrown open and the people commence to arrive, the circus tent has the appearance of a big reception, with the public as guests, and all the performers, proprietor and staff there in the receiving line at the entrance to welcome them. Col. Bob Love and Madam Harmston-Love preside over this aggregation more as a father and mother over a huge family.

I am told that Harmston's Circus has never missed or postponed a pay day, and they do not hold back any percentage; yet. if it became necessary, each performer in the show would work a month gladly without pay. The genial, big-heartedness of both Mr. and Mrs. Love is genuine and not assumed for show purposes.

Out in this country the circus is the popu-

These differences have now been adjusted to a certain extent, though complaints are still heard occasionally on both sides.

The effect of the inevitable introduction of ten-cent vaudeville throughout the east can only be surmised. (The best register of its progress wwill be the degree of success that will be enjoyed by the International Theatre in Chicago. Watch it.

Pleasant weather and good business at the playhouses was the rule in Cincinnati last week, and from the manner in which this week is starting off it would appear that we are to have a continuance of good things.

Babes in Toyland was the big hill of last week at the Grand Opera House. The piece drew even better than it did last season. Ignacio Martinetti and Katherine Bell are the two particularly bright stars of the aggregation.

The Columbia had a fine bill which was made up of the following: Macart's Trained Monkeys, T. Nelson Downs, Willy Zimmerman, Charley Case, World and Kingston, Mme. Avery Stradosch, the Savans and Hoch, Jane Elton &

Prince.

James S. Howell has resigned as assistant treasurer of the Columbia Theatre. He will be succeeded by Charles Schweltzer of the Walnut Theatre.

be succeeded by Charles Schweitzer of the Walnut Theatre.

Ludwig Falda, the German playwright now in this country on a visit, is due to reach Cincinnati Friday, and will remain several days at the St. Nicholas as the guest of the German Literary Club.

Last week's bill at the Walnut was The Office Boy, in which Nixon & Zimmerman present the clever comedian, Frank Deshon. The performance has been seen here before and needs no introduction. However, it may be said that the scenery, chorus and singing were all excellent. Mr. Deshon succeeded in getting the laughs from the audiences quite frequently, and what more is necessary.

When London Sleeps, the well-known English melodrama, was on at Henck's, and the fact that this excellent plece has been absent for several scasons, was enough to attract the big crowds that witnessed it. The massive production carried quite a number of competent players who all looked after their parts well. At the Lyceum last week, Kilimt & Gazzolo presented the comedy densa, On the Bridge

At the Lyceum last week, Klimt & Gazzolo presented the comedy drama, On the Bridge at Midnight. The play has been seen here before, and was well received. It is full of starting climaxes, etc., and is also well supplied with some enjoyable comedy. The cast is a satisfactory one, Good business was the rule.

rule. Carr's Thoroughbreds was the attraction at People's last week, and scored a hit. Two pleasing burdesques, A Good Run For Your Moncy, and The Union Men were well received. An olio of merit, was, sandwiched between the burlesques. The hits of the olio were scored by Orletta and Taylor, in a high class singing specialty, and the Laurent Trio, in a novelty acrobatic act. The feature of the show was Cunning, the jail breaker. Crowded houses were the rule. . 413.

MINSTREL

I. S. Potts, agent of John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels writes as follows, viz.:
"John W. Vogel, the minstrel manager, whose name is well known throughout the United States, promises a great surprise for next season.

"Despite the fact that his present, organization borders on the perfection of the minstrel's art, his company for next season promises to eclipse in magnificence and surprises anything that has ever been attempted in minstrels. The company will be greatly augmented. Mr. Vogel has sent a representative to scour the music halls of Europe; and he expects to sign several sensational sets, the like of which have never been seen on this side of the water. Several tableaux, which in the matter of expense and gorgeousness will equal anything ever presented in this country, will strengthen the ollo. One entitled The Acolyte's Vision, is now being constructed in Paris. It consists of the interior of the sacristy of the famous Benedictine mouks novitate in the south of France.

So, and other cities, recently purchased the feether sending HE magnificent spring weather with which Chicago has recently been favored, brings with it not only a foretaste of the pleasant; days that are coming, but also a happy reminder of the circus-tide which is close uppin us. From the smallest cherub in arms to the oldest living patriarch in the family tree, leveryone is eagerly looking forward to the blare of trumpets which announces the spring logening of the Ringling Bros. World's Greatest Shows. Chicagoans look on this magnificent aggregation with a feeling of proprietary interest, for while other great shows of the kinu select New York as the initial opening center, the Ringling Brothers for the last eleven years have selected Chicago as theirs. It, therefore, soes without saying that their annual adventible is looked upon as one of the most important amusement as one of the most important amusement events of the year.

We can confidently assert that at no other time in their career have the Ringling Brothers frowledd so many surpless and so varied a collection of world-famous attractions as will be presented this year. Without any fear of contradiction, we unhesitatingly predict that the Collisum will never before have housed such an assemblage of circus talent and costly ageantry. For weeks John Ringling has ransacked Europe for the greatest sensational features, the most notable novelties and the most renowned acts that money could procure. There is no need that readers of The Billboard should take our mere word in support of the foregoing statements. The following list is ample and convincing evidence of the unapproachable attractions provided.

Double Loop the Loop, by a troupe of Fox Terriers. In this really marvelous performance, the dogs rush down an incline at breakneck speed and continue their course, by sheer force of impetus, through the circumferences of both loops. This is a famous Parisian feature, secured at great outlay and with much difficulty.

Another European importation consists of the startling and daring aerial act of the Three Ernesto Sisters, who with The Clarkonions, The Alvos and The DaComas, will be featured.

The DeKock Family, direct from Paris, will make their first American appearance in their triginal acrobatic act. The Four Webbs are also on the acrobatic list.

Among the equilibrists are Margurite and Hanley, Aerial Smiths, and Up-Side-Down Frank Smith.

The greatest as well as the most spectacular juggling number ever offered by any management, circus or hippodrome, is promised by the introduction of the Five Mowatts, the Onri Troupe of five people, the Five Normans and Oille Young and Brother. With these clever people in the three rings and on the elevated stage at the same time spectators will be furnished a treat seldom witnessed.

Acrobatic dancing will have the world's best exponents in the celebrated Collini-Gairon combination.

Albert Crandall, who issimade millions laugh the every portion of the globe will appear in fins ferhous semi-equestrial comedy act.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoda Royal will be the star features on the Hippodrome, in their great original evolutions.

There will be a number of trained animal acts, chief among them being a head of twenty performing elephants under the personal direction of Herr iflear! Souders. The Ringling elephants are unquestionably the most intelligent ensemble performing pachyderms in the world.

gent ensemble performing pachyderms in the world.

A grand ballet of over three hundred pretty girls will be featured in the introductory spectacle, appearing in the very latest Parislan and London creations. An innovation will be introduced this season in the presentation of the spectacle by having the entire oval of the Collseum utilized as a stage for the evolutions. Last season the spectacle was confined to the south end of the building which did not afford sufficient space for the presentation. The new arrangement will not only be a decided improvement, and enhance the value of this feature, but it will give greater satisfaction to the spectators.

Space forbids the enumeration of the more than forty clowns that will contribute to the mirth and pleasantry of the performance. I will suffice to say that Al. Ringling has be stowed more than his customary careful attention to this essential department of the show. It will be of interest to our many reader to know that this is positively the first announcement made in any publication of the personnel of the Ringling Broa.' World's Greatest Shows for the season of 1906.

"Zimmerman, Willy WHAT HE DID TO "HAMLET"

A group of actors at the Players' Club were once engaged in a discussion as to the 'ability and impartiality of certain professional critics of the drama, when the late Maurice Barrymore referred to a certain Denver journalist, who was widely known for his dramatic criticisms. "Hayward," said Mr. Barrymore, "was certainly one of the ablest of them. He wrote most learnedly, with the keenest analysis of every phase of the actor's art, and, above all, with no little wit. I am just reminded of what was, perhaps, the briefest dramatic criticism ever penned. It will probably outlive everything else Hayward did. It ran about as follows:

"George C. Miln, the preacher actor, played Hamlet at the Tabor Grand Opera House-last night. He played it till twelve o'clock."

Amusement Park Constructors, Park Managers, Circus Owners, Carnival Companies, Amusement Men, WILL "IT" PAY?

This is the Question that naturally arises when one anticipates embarking in a new enterprise. Ten year ago it was generally prophesied that the animated picture, as an entertainer, would be less used in the future than they were at that time. This, however, was a mistake, for the demand-has less used in the future than they were at that time or for surertainment than ever before. When you hed in the simulated motion of a moving train to the animated picture, you double its value, and when to an animated picture and the simulated motion of you add and carry the conception of a complete vehicle of travel, you triple its value and earning capacity.

No other class of entertainment and anusement has so large a field in which to operate, and no other earns as large profits in proportion to cost of installation and maintenance.

There are thousands of summer Parks, Carnival Cities, State and County Fairs, Theatres, Halls, Rinks, and Store Buildings, and prominent theroughtarce and streets, and an endiess number of different places where such exhibitions can be profitably given the year round.

MILLS "CHIEF FOX" Spirit Writer. This Indian Never Talks. But He Has Made $50 a Day.

We Can Show You How to Make Money

In Any Public Place.

At the Pan American and St. Louis Expositions, in the Japanese and Esquimaux Villages and Wild West Show, this Indian Spirit Writer, after paying 25 per cent for the concession, netted $20 to $25 a day, and in many instances as high as $50.

At Parks, Seaside Resorts and similar public places it easily yields $15 to $20 a day, and recent experience proves that it is just as popular and makes just as much money in Penny Arcades or at any gathering of people.

The Mills A records

We make the largest line of money-making games and coin controlled machines for the amusement of the public. Send for circular 124 G for full description of these two games; and ask about our arcade proposition.

AND FEEL SURE OF YOUR ACT.

Why depend on the theatres to furnish a piano for your act? You rarely, if ever, get the same kind of an instrument two weeks in succession, which doubtless makes it hard some-times to do yourself justice, because the plano furnished does not suit your voice, or because it has not been properly tuned. You will get much better results by carrying with you and always using your own COLUMBUS BABY UPRIGHT. It's just the thing.

of the two families divided by a wall. The parents are seen scolding their children.

The young lovers, seeing that they cannot meet undisturbed in their paternal homes, go walking in the woods, and are surprised by a terrible thunderstorm. Seeking refuge under a huge tree, the young man is struck by lightning, and the unhappy girl has to run for help, and, with the aid of some friends, she carries him to her father's

She nurses him back to life, and his father, seeing his son revived and saved by the brave girl, consents to their marriage.

The Scene during the storm is most wonderful and, being a popular subject, this original film will make a hit at any performance.

A botanist and his pupils are seen wandering in the woods searching for butterfiles Through their glasses they can see specimens of all colors, which after caught, they fasten to corks with pins. Suddenly two huge grasshoppers appear and before the botanist has time to recover from his astonishment they seize and drag him to their hidden cave. Here they decide to punish him by treating him in the same cruel way that he treats the butterfiles. They fasten him to a huge cork by running a great gold pin through his body; they seem overloyed at his suffering and dance around him with maish glee. After obtaining from their victim his promise never to torment the but terfiles again, they release the captive and the botanist and his pupils verify their goo intentions by destroying their instruments and nets. The butterfiles dance in evidence

THE CHINESE WORLD

It has also its own newspaper, the Uninese World, edited solely in the interests of the Chinese of San Francisco and published by the Mon Hing Yat Bo Company, at 635 Merchant street. Only Chinese are employed in the publishing offices of this paper, which is issued in a more elaborate form than would be imagined. I had the good fortune to make the personal acquaintance of the editor. Otis S. Lee, an exceedingly intelligent young Chinaman, who was brought to this country from China in his sixth year. He is now a membeer of the Jundor class of the University of California, at Berkeley, and speaks English fluently without the slightest accent. It is remarkable the amount of work he manages to despatch, for the ordinary man usually finds his capacacy taxed with the labor of editing a paper alone, while Otis S. Lee, in addition, manages to rank high in a class of students who have no other occupation of divide their interest and dissipate their efforts.

The editor of the Chinese World is essentially and emphatically Chinese in his sympathies, though, as the absence of his queue indicates, he is a member of the Empire Reform Society, which he tells me is made up almost entirely of Chinemen who have pursued their education in other lands, with the purpose of giving light to their benighted countrymen at home. He will return to Chine, he says, for there he will not only be able to put his education to the best possible use, but, at the same time, he will occupy the station for which he is qualifying and from which the prejudice against his race would preclude him in any other than his native land.

The indomitable spirit "I Will" was never more strikingly evidenced than it is in the personality of Frieda C. Hall, whose splendid likeness illuminates this page of The Billboard. The wife of O. L. Hall, dramatic editor of the Journal, she is undoubtedly one of the most popular women in Chicago's literary circles. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Hail attracted considerable attention through her editorial work, in leading Chicago papers, under the nom de plume of Paul Langley, and, as the composer of the tuneful opera The Voyagers, produced at LaSalle Theatre, gave indication of possessing remarkable versatility. She is credited with at least ten published compositions in leading musical catalogues, has written fourteen vaudeville eketches, and has in preparation an opera which is to be given an early metropolitan production by a prominent New York manager.

Mrs. Hall is a highly educated, much-traveled young woman. She has crossed the ocean several times, and has spun around the coast of Africa. Her experiences are put to good use both in verse and story.

He caught on amazingly with the Chinese, to use the vernacular, and it was singularly amusing to see the little Celestials on the street imitating him.

has given us a startling question:
"What is an actress?" In this suit it is necessary to settle the professional status of various show ladles used to impersonate The Gibson Girls, and no wonder the two juries disagreed when actors wonder the two juries disagreed when actors themselves disagree.

Some thought a woman would be an actress if she said a single word, as "Yes" or "No," or a single line, such as "My Lord, the carriage waits." Others thought speaking unnecessary and instanced pantomime actors. Manager George Edwardes said a chorus girl was an actress in the minor sense. She was necessary to the play; if she was not she would not be there. Manager Alexander was more conservative, and said that a woman who played parts in the provinces might be an actress if she only spoke a line in London productions, but an inexperienced woman speaking a line he would not call an actress. Harry Paulton, who retired from the actor's association because of an open door clause abolishing all qualifications, said becoming an actress by speaking a line was making his profession "too cheap." Much of the testimony was highly amusing and seems to imply the difference between an actress with a little "a" and one with a big "A".

PARODY ON NERO

PARODY ON NERO

Nero is still drawing tremendous crowds to His Majesty's. At the Collseum Oswald Stoll is featuring S'Nero, which implies a sneer at the production it parodies. The production, such as it is, is ably made and for those who like this sort of thing it is undoubtedly acceptable. In fact the fun is described as being "fast and furious." The first scene is outside the St. Georgius Sangerius, Hippodrome, while the second shows the fair and the charlot races on the revolving stage.

CINDERELLA FOR PARIS

On Feb. 12 contracts were signed by which the Drury pantomime, Cinderella, goes to the Porte St. Martin, Paris, early in September in all its original splendor. It will be under the joint management of M. Cleves, the veteran director of that establishment and Arthur Collins of London. The pantomime will be cast for French artists, but special significance will be laid upon the scenic, spectacular and musical side of the production.

AT THE THEATRES

At the Royalty Resurrection, dram-atized from Tolstol, is described as a "long and dreary play founded on a long and dreary book." However, it was very well played, and was applauded throughout. At the Coronet Forbes Robertson is having a cordial welcome. He divides the week between Mice and Men and The Light That Failed.

Forces Robertson is having a cordial welcome. He divides the week between Mice and Men and The Light That Failed.

At the Court Theatre A Question of Age, a three-act comedy by Robert V. Harcourt, proved prolix and tiresome. A little one-act play, The Younger Generation, in which proposals pop and a fascinating widow figures, proved a welcome curtain raiser at Terry's Theatre. Another one-act hit was The Convict on the Hearth, by Frederick Fenn, at the Court. At the Adelphil the Easter Shakespearean production will be Measure for Measure. The Shop Girl's matinee to see the Heroic Stubbs last Thursday was indeed an Adamiess Edden, as the box-office had a "barring clause" against men. The girls were good humored and the line about the shop girl virtue was passed by almost unnoticed. The crowd was photographed by flashlight and now a Parisian costumer will reward the lady writer of the best criticism after which will be consolation prizes of the "costly boots," etc.

Maxim Gorki's Nachtasyl, due this week at the German Theatre, will be our first taste of the late imprisoned Russian's work. The Alabaster Staircase, built on political humor, is in active rehearsal at the Comedy. The French season at the New Royal has been an unfagging success, La March Nuptiale being the last production. The White Chrysanthemum at the Criterion has been a great financial success. Cappella, the story of a vivifed doll, much in the style of La Poupeeq, will be the Easter ballet at the Empire.

At the Waldorf a model evening's entertainment is furnished by The Paritkier Pet, followed by The Superior Miss Pellender. The machine is a lantern operated by electric connection from the prompter's box and furnished with a continuous film bearing the words of the play or opera. In the above illustration Caylor and Jefferson are shown in one of the many ludicrously funny situations of their successful sketch, entitled A Woman's Way. The work of these clever performers is meeting with praise on every hand, and their knockabout finish never fails to win less than three or four encores. The act was written especially for Caylor and Jefferson, and it gives them ample opportunity to display their ability in neat, up-to-date comedy.

PRAISED AMERICAN COMPOSER

Orton Bradley has been lecturing on American music before the Incorporated Society of Musicians. He said that in 1713 an organ was imported for presentation to a Boston church but the shocked congregation refused the gift. Wagner's music was not played in the States until 1853 and Tannhaeuser was not heard in Boston till 1859. G. F. Bristow's Rip Van Winkle in 1853 was the first opera of American composition. Mr. Bradley paid tribute to Stephen C. Faster, author of the music of the Old Folks at Home and Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming. Among others mentioned were G. W. Chadwick, Horatio Parker, R. A. McDowell, H. K. Hadley, Van de Stucken, Arthur Whiting, Arthur Fotte, and Mrs. H. H. A. Brach. He prophesied great things for American composers in the future.

RICHARD MANSFIELD'S PLANS

HOW THICK IS BLOOD?

Be Adulterated!—The Argumen

Strongheart and The Clansman.

This seems an age of specialized effort in all courses of life; and the stage-world, not less than others, has been the recipient of the rapid-fire products incubated by the specialized brains of specialized playwrights. Singleness of purpose breeds success—sometimes.

We have had and still have the rural drama; we have been entertained, if not educated, in the drawing-room of the social butterfly of the society play; we have watched with weeping eyes our favorite books as they were led lamb-like to the dramatical abattors, there to be killed, sugar-cured and dressed in ill-fitting garb for stage presentation, to be flaunted in the faces of their old admirers with the dare "Recognize me if you can?"; and, now we stand on the brink of a scary deep and are conscious of a something; of vital importance, which asks point-blank, "How thick is blood; and shall we or should we submit to a demonetization, an adulteration of it?" This last specialized effort in dramatic products is "the race question," as argued by the plays Strongheart and the more recent The Clansman. While the real issue of intermarriage is not "de novo" in play construction, it has remained for the aforesaid plays to come out flat-footed and call black, black and white, white.

The Clansman is the latest dramatic argument on this racial controversy, and while it is an unprovoked anomaly born amid present, peace, prosperity and slumbering racial discrepancies, still it, gives layishly of that essential to success—amusement, even if there be no new ethics contributed to the complexity of equality in human-kind.

WITT REJOINS STERN & CO.

LARA BELLE JEROME, who plays the leading feminine role in Sergeant Brue, has introduced a new song which completely captured the upper part of Manhattan Island. The title is Nora, My Irish Rose, and the song is what might be called a real Irish litt, the melody being so infectious that Frank Daniels had it incorporated immediately as part of the finale of the place. The song boy in the lobby was overwhelmed with orders for Nora just as was the case with Dearie on the opening night of Sergeant Brue. Stern & Co. have secured the publication of this hit and they have already rushed out an attractive edition.

The authors of Nora are O'Dea and Cauldwell, two song writers very prominent in the lime light just at present. This, their latest, promises to eclipse any of their previous efforts.

Alto Volo, the California contraito, who has hitherto distinguished herself in concert with the Duss Orchestra and with Sonsa's Band singing operatic arias, broke in a new act in Philadelphia recently and found by experiment that Would You Care? got more applause in vaude-ville than any other one of her serious songs. The following week she sang at Proctor's 125th Street Theatre. Like the late Helen Mora both in voice and disposition, Miss Yolo is loath to sing a new song until other artists have paved the way so that her singing of Would You Care? and Dreaming Love of You is rather significant.

Just as the composition was about to go to press the firm was apprised of the fact that another firm of publishers in New York had already brought out an instrumental number under the title of Pandora. With characteristic liberality M. Witmark & Sons immediately discarded the title so as not to condict with the other publishing firm in question. Morrell is singing one of the latest songs published by The Alturas Mnsic Publishing Co. of San Francisco, called Good-bye Blue Eyes, and is making a decided hit with it. He has such a magnificent voice that he is bound to make the song popular. Ben Deeley has had a song written for him by Mackey and Jewell called Let the Silver Come. It is a coon song, and is strictly reserved, and with the business he introduces, will cause any house full of people to go into spasms. Fate of Allen Murray McPhail, Railros

The work of putting everything in fire-class condition will continue until the season opens, and when the show leaves the winter quarters for the season of 1906 everything will be in first-class condition, with new canvas from the big top to the cook-house, and will make a nice appearance on the lot.

Remarkable has been the success of the Campbell Bros. when it is taken into consideration that but a few years ago they started out with a wagon, a couple of horses, and a few dogs. What they have was carned by hard persistent work, but with that pluck and pepseverance for which the western boys are so noted, they have to-day one of the best and cleanest shows of its size on the road. Shows.

N. Feb. 26, while attending a theatrical performance in Pittsburg, Allen Murray McPhail, general reflects and contractor of the Hagenbeck Shows, and one of the best known circus agents in America suddenly became bilind. Thinking it was but a freak of his imagination, he lighted a match and held the fiame before his eyes. His act attracted the attention of the audience and the players on the stage, he was found that he had collapsed.

A physician was summound and announced that McPhail had been stricken with apoplexy.

W. E. Fuller, the contracting agent of the stricken man, and to spare no expense in the matter. Mgr. Fuller at once secured a consultation of the sparen to expense in the matter. Mgr. Fuller at once secured a consultation of the services. Of the best specialists and secured the services. Of the hearth of the best specialists and in fact did everything resistent was reported improving, but still very serious. Mr. C. N. Thompson and Mr. W. H. Gardner are in constant communication with the best specialists and secured the services of the conclusion of the parent of almost one of the services of the conclusion of the parent of almost one of the condition of the parent of almost west agreed to serve the services of the string physicians.

THE GAMPBELL BROS.' SHOW

The Biliboard correspondent at Omaha, Neb., writes:

I recently visited the winter quarters of the Campbell Bros.' Circus at Fairbury, Neb., and feund, that general activity prevailed in all departments. Wagons are being repaired and beautified by paint and gilt, and several new wagons are in the course of construction. The animals are all being cared for out at the farm owned by the boys, a short distance from town, and are all in excellent condition.

The sise of the show next season will be greatly enlarged with the addition of about 130,600 worth of paraphernalis, in the way of cages, animals and cars, purchased from the Half Show. The show will earry about 175 head of horses, and will exhibit under a 150 big top.

Some big feature acts have been secured and the hippedrome will be greatly strengthened by some additional racces. A big improvement will be made in the parade; it will be on a grander resident Theodore Roosevelt spent his cowboy resident Theodore Roosevelt spent his cowboy.

Of course I show scenes in all parts of the world. 'After touring the parks, boul-wards and streets of the city, entering the theatre and witnessing several of the latest amusing films, then proceeding to the depot in our Sight Seeing Auto, why should we not carry the itilusion still farther, and after entering the New York Central Station in New York, why not, with our own device and idea, show the Niagara Fall as we pass on our way to Chicago? Then, again, after entering the Union Station in Denver on our way to Salt Lake via the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, why not show the Royal Gorgeon our way? Well, we do, and with hundreds of others we combine it ail. We have $1.300 worth of films in the safe of THE SELIG. POLYSOPE CO., 43 Peck court, Chicago, Ill., besides over $1.800 worth of negatives are owned by us. We supply the films for our Sight Seeing Auto Tours.

They also said I COULD, under my patents applied for, build behind said railway car platform a ar with top and slides, made to vibrate and roll, simulating the movement of a pas enger coach; and that I COULT exhibit in conjunction with my sight Seeing Auto Tours, or separately, any of the so-ealled Haie's Tours shown to date without fear of in-

DREAMLAND -

First tried in their Electrical Work the 9171 Receptacle—perhaps because Pan-American had used.

They failed to consider that "DREAM-LAND" was a PERMANENT Day. LAND' was a PERMANENT Park, while Pan-American was only for a few months. The 9171 gave endless Electrical trouble to the Engineers in charge and finally the Board of Fire Underwriters have debarred the use of the 9171 in Amusement Resorts.

Our 48 Passenger Swing at White City, Chicago.

.. The Best Circle Swing..

Is built by the ORIGINAL Company who devote their time exclusively to building and operating swings. They have tried many experiments and found them to be impractical, though TRADE PIRATES are offering some of these rejected plans for sale to-day as a practical Circle Swing.

THE TRAVER CIRCLE SWING IS NOT AN EXPERIMENT,

but has demonstrated its superiority over all other Swings by the plants which are now in operation from Maine to California and from the Lakes to the Gulf.

We have NO CHEAP MACHINE, but for the prices which we quote, a customer gets the best up-to-date Circle Swing which the market affords Its safety is guaranteed in every respect.

We deliver the Best Swing, composed entirely of steel, and you receive the goods ON TIME. No investment in the amusement business can equal in results those which have been obtained from the operation of the Circle Swing, as it is the greatest money earner in proportion to its cost of installation and operation. We have swings for sale and can furnish one or two good concessions to desirable purchasers.

LOVE SCENES

Are Very Much the Vogue in Paris

Little French Comedies Still Good for Short Run-A Tip for Sardou-Notes of Plays.

EVER a week here without new plays. The Parisian always wants a change, and a play has to be a real good one if it runs for more than a hundred nights in this town. This week has seen two changes of program, one being at the Theatre Moliere, where the bill consists of three plays and six acts. The plays are Je suis Ministre, in one act by Mme. Odrienne Cambry: Le Parvenu, in one act by Messrs. C. Darien and Mevisto, and Les Plumes du Geal, a four act play by Jean Jullicn.

I did not see Je suis Ministre, as I arrived at the theatre rather late, but I heard that it was very amusing. Le Parvenue was dull and much too long for a one act plece. Like so many other pleces of its kind it centers around Napoleon Bonaparte, who is made to appear extremely prosy. He takes us in confidence and confides his political hopes and aspirations, and tells us his private troubles. No doubt the gentleman who portrays the role is happy, for it is a little failing with actors to impersonate Napoleon. A dramatic critic here says it is because of the charm of procuouncing the two famous words, "Comediante, tragediante," which as a matter of fact were invented by Alfred de Vigny, and were never uttered by the Pope.

SENTIMENTAL PLAY WINS

SENTIMENTAL PLAY WINS

But Plumes du Geai, the jackdaw masquerading in the peacock's feathers, made up for the dullness of the Parvenu. It is a very charming play, and proves that a little, simple, sentimental and wholesome play gets there every time, provided the sentiment is not overdone, and that it is well constructed, and, of course, well acted. Witness, for instance, the success that Old Heidelberg has had even in Paris. We have had enough of those plays that end with the crack of a revolver. At one time there were no fewer than four plays running here at different theatres, all of which ended by either the suicide of the hero or the heroine. In the Plumes du Geat there is nothing of this sort. It deals chiefly of the old theme of money versus love, but the author has handled it so well that the auditor forgets that the topic is not a new and original one. The story is as follows: M. Paul Dumont, the hero, is a young and very wealthy man. He does not know the amount of his fortune (in this respect at least Mr. Rockefeller can sympathize with him), and he keeps on adding to it. However, he is unhappy because he believes meither is love nor friendship. His lady friends are always trying to borrow money. A lady of high estate is trying to arrange a marriage for him, obviously in the hope of fingering a big commission.

LOWLINESS IS HAPPINESS

AT ROCKAWAY BEACH

The L. A. Thompson Scenic Railway Co. is making many changes at Coney Island and other resorts. This company's latest seenic railway is Pike's Feak, which they have erected on the site formerly known as Jackman's at Coney Island. They have also transformed the coal mine into a scenic railroad with a manmoth pavillon and one of the handsomest fronts ever erected. In conjunction with Geo. Tilyon, this company is building many new attractions at Rockaway Beach, which is going to be a strong rival of Coney Island this season.

Geo. Tilyou has spent a great deal of money on Steeplechase Park, where one of the features is the tallest tower in the world.

A. A. Bradwell is interested in the new scenic railway, Niagara Falls, located on the Bowery at the corner of Jones Walk. This attraction is a novel one, and is sure of big money.

Gaffney, S. C.

For the Murder of Milan Bennett and Abbott Davidson-Hard Fought Case—Defense Will Appeal.

EORGE HASTY has been convicted of the murder of Milan Bennett and Abbott Davidson, members of the Nothing But Money Co., at Gaffney, S. C., Dec. 15. The verdict was returned at 6:15 A. M. Tuesday, March 6, after a bitterly contested battle of five days. Hasty goes to the penttentiary for life.

The history of the tragedy at Gaffney last December is well known to all readers of The Billboard and need not be rehasted at this time. The trial was called March 1. The first move on the part of the defendant was a motion to quasi the indictment because of irregularity in that there was no indictment for carrying concealed weapons. This point was argued at length by Messra Johnstone and Osborne for the defense and was opposed by Solicitor Sease. The motion was refused.

The next move on the part of the defense was a motion for continuance because of the absence of a material witness. Being denied this privilege also the defense then pleaded that Mr. Johnstone was too ill to go into the case. Again the judge decided against the defense and insisted that the case be tried at once.

Hasty then pleaded self-defense. The first that Mr. Johnstone was too ill to go into the case. Again the judge decided against the defense and insisted that the case be tried at once.

Hasty then pleaded self-defense. The first witness for the prosecution made a diagram of Piedmont Inn, where the shooting occurred. Dr. Allen described the course of the bullet that killed Bennett. Verne Sheridan was then called and she told a straightforward story of the entire affair and described graphically the details of the tragedy. The defense endeavored in every conceivable manner to trick her, but she stood the test well and refused to be confounded by the attorneys for the defense. She testified to the fact that after she retired she heard a knock on her doer, but did not answer it. The party then went out on the veranda and tried to get in the window. Failing in this, he came back and threw himself against the door and then climbed up and looked in the transom. She recognized George Hasty. She called Mr. Bennett, who was a musical composer, and engaged to marry her, sat in her room writing music till 4 o'clock in the morning, when he went to his own room and got a comforter and lay across her bed till 7 o'clock. Next morning she was annoyed by Hasty again. This was while Mr. Bennett from the dining-room. They went out. Mr. Davison was told that Hasty was the same man who had annoyed Miss Bishop in the afternoon before. After Hasty and Mr. Bennett had gone out Mr. Davison followed. She told of the conversation between the men, and of Mr. Davison raising his hand to strike Hasty. At the same time Hasty fired two shots in quick succession. Mr. Davison then grappled with Hasty, pushing the hand with the revolver against the wall. Hasty jerked loose from him and shot Mr. Bennett.

May Bishop corroborated the testimony of Miss Sheridan. She also proved a match for the bitter sarcasm of Col. Johnstone, who failed to shake her testimony.

The Superior Miss Pellender did not attract all the town to the Waldorf Theatre, and has been superceded by a welcome revival of Goldsmith's comedy. She Stoops to Conquer. All were well pleased. Poor old Goldsmith sleeps in St. Mary's Church, Inner Temple. He is mentioned so much in English literature that many forget he was born in Ireland.

The Little Stranger, so successfully hoomed on London, had a preliminary run in the provinces, and its "infant phenomenon" is probably the same it had up country. It is a curious coincidence that Clarissa's Troublesome Baby, a story which appeared in The Smart Set four years ago, is now being dramatized in America. This fiction treats of baby remarantion, and is probably the hidden fountain-head whence the London drama bloomed. It is said H. B. Irving will in time produce a historical play of Charles IX., which his father had intended to produce, but finally left as a legacy to his now famous son. POLITICAL PLAY FARES BADLY An Alabaster Staircase, produced Feb. 21, at the Comedy Theatre, was received with respectful cordiality, but it did not evoke enthusiasm. It touches on the dangerous theme of politics, and its hero changes from Royalist to Radical, after recovering from a dangerous fall on his plutocratic alabaster staircase. Tis said that bables have no sense till they fall out of bed, and so the impact on his marble stair seems to knock new sense in his head. Losing his gorgeous Tory views, he visits East End factories, docks, emigration agencies and the haunts of bitter poverty, wrestling with deep economic problems. The play is somewhat lacking in plot, vitality and dramatic situations, and the farcical characters made the main hits.

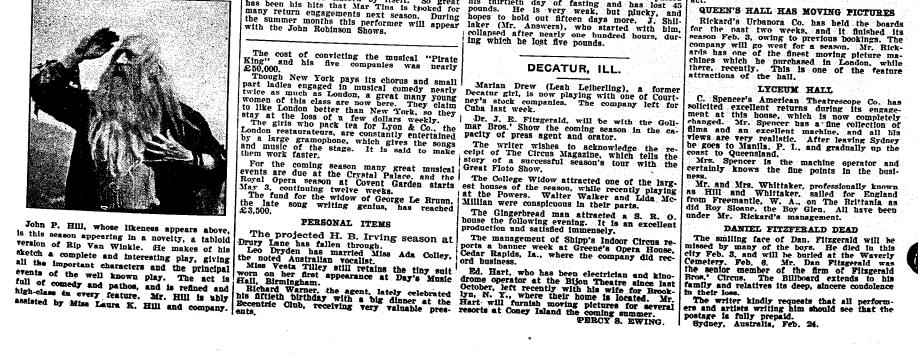

At the Nero professional matinee there was heavy applause from a crowded house, and Mr. Tree was called forward. "I feel certain," he remarked, "that we have appreciated your

N a late trial the London courts could not agree as to whether or not a Gibson girl is an actress, but a far more important point has been settled; namely, that a Gibson girl is eligible to the peerage. Miss Eva Carrington made The Catch of the Season, while appearing in a play of that name at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, and has just become Lady Clifford by marriage to an irish Lord. He is tall, handsome and chivalrous, and did not waste much time, as he proposed in a motor car and they were married within six days. Baron Clifford's fatalistic family motto: "What will be, will be," must have led him on.

Manager Seymour Hicks refers to her with fatherly interest as one of the best girls, and the Bluebil Co., in which she formerly appeared, feels very proud of the match. Lord Clifford's line stretches back through the Wars of the Roses. He is twenty-one and his bride is nineteen.

MUSICAL NOTES

Irish peers seem fond of stage beauties, and this is the fourth who has married one of late years. First the Earl of Clancarty wedded Miss Belie Bilton, of the London music halls, Next the Marquis of Headfort yielded to Miss Rosle Boote, who caught all London with her singing of Maise from the Galety stage. Not long after the Earl of Clonneil married Miss Rachel Berridge, also an actress. Since 1724 sixteen peers have married ladles of the stage, the very latest being Lord Ashburton, who followed Lord Clifford's example by marrying Miss Frances Donneily, an American actress, in Paris Feb. 19. She is young, blue eyed, and exceedingly pretty. The happy couple proceeded to Bordeaux, whence they go to Marseilles and later to South Africa. Safonoff, who leads the London Symphony Orchestra Feb. 22, does not use a baton, and says: "Formerly musical conductors used to mark time by thumping the floor rythmically with a long wooden pole. Then Spinton came and adopted a sort of long cane with which he conducted his orchestra. In more tendent times conductors like M. Lamoureaux and Colonne made use of the thin baton we now see, and which in course of time will disappear altogether."

The Carl Rosa Co. finds, by a ballot test which it uses on tour, that the public's favorite operas are Tannhauser and Fanst. Though of late years The Marriage of Figaro and Beethoven's Fidello are much appreciated.

USINESS at Her Majesty's Theatre has been extremely heavy during the past few productions. The Girl From Kays flaished its engagement Jaz. 20, and Veronique was produced on the 27th for the first time in this city.

R. G. Knowles, accompanied by his wife, arrived in this city Feb. 2, and will open at the Palace under the management of J. C. Williamson. During his f-rmer visit Mr. Knowles established himself as a firm favorite with Australians and his reception promises to be a cordial one when he opens on the 10th. On this trip he brings with him an entirely new and up-to-date monologue entertainment and illustrates his stories by the aid of morning pictures. He states that he has over two thousand pictures and is constantly adding to his collection.

The Charles Holiday Dramatic Co., under the management of Edwin Geech, closed its season Feb. 2, at the Criterion Theatre. During their stay they produced The Two Vagabonds, Rogues of the Turf and Shall We Forgive Her? The entire company sailed for Auckiand, N. Z., on the Thurston Closes

THURSTON CLOSES

Howard Thurston, who is also under the able management of Edwin Geech, closed his season at the Palace Theatre and salled for Hobart, Tasmanla, where he met with much success, playing to capacity during his tennight engagement. His three-night stay in Newcastle also brought immense results. He opened in Brisbane. Queensland, on Feb. 3, and will afterward go to Manila, P. I., thence to China and Japan. He gives a fine entertainment, and is entitled to success.

AT THE CRITERION THEATRE The Brough-Fleming Co. opened at this house Feb. 3, and they are proving great favorites. Packed houses are the rule.

Messrs. Mynell and Gunn opened at this theatre on Jan. 27 in The J. P., with J. J. Dallas and Miss Florence Lloyd in the leading roles. Miss Lloyd is well suited for leading parts, and she is ably supported by Mr. Dallas and an excellent company. Business, however, was not half what it should have been, and in consequence the play was withdrawn Feb. 2 and There and Back was substituted. This was the premiere production of this play and it drew capacity business. H. J. Whill is general manager of the company while G. H. Barnes is business manager. The latter desires to be remembered by his many friends in the United States.

PANTOMIME AT THE ROYAL

Enormous business is being solicited at this house. Sinbad, the Sailor, the Christmas pantomime, with Miss Marie Campbell as the principal, the success of the production is due the wonderful work of stage manager Richard Goodall, whose Americanized ways are always apparent to the average observer. The music is delightfully tuneful, and is sure to make a big hit. Julius Grant is looking after the front of the house.

Edw. Lang is to produce for Wm. Andersoa Weber & Field's Hoity Toity, Fiddle De De and others for six months. He will then return to London vio America after an extended tour through Australia, Manila, China and Japan.

His production, giving the theatrical Napoleon due credit, of course, of The Taming of the Sharew is the best example of the change of heart. Sothern's make-up! Surely had not the play-sills announced that it was Petruchio one would not have erred in taking the character, in appearance, for Joe Weber in The Squaw-Man's Girl of the Golden West. But Joe's gingerhread revolver couldn't be forced into making half the noise that Petruchio's whip does, and perhaps Joe could not vociferate so eloquently but he wouldn't take more notice. A bucking broncho, a high-horned saddle and a lariat are noticeably absent, but Petruchio lets loose about everything else in wild west fashion and things go with a rush and a bang that almost invigorates and enthuses one to the point of going on the war path.

Though somewhat subdued by a strained ankle Miss Marlowe must also be given credit. She did manage to stamp her other foot occasionally, to throw books and such missiles, and to do other things that probably Ada Rehan never dreamed that Kate would do, but Kate did.

Sarah Truax would have the public attend church Sunday morning and the theafre Sunday evening. This theme furnished the actress her subject for an address before a recent meeting of the Actors' Church Alliance in Chicago. Though apt to excite a sombre frown and to bring from the clergy a bitter demunciation because of the proposed curtailment of the Sunday service, the proposition commends itself for consideration more particularly at this time when many state and municipal authorities are threatening the Sunday theatre. What a happy state of affairs might we not enjoy were the plan put to the practical test it deserves. In the first place, it would undoubtedly relieve the unnecessary and unnatural aversion now existing between the church and the theatre.

aversion now existing between the church and the theatre.

Many, many people do not attend church because they consider that there is a well-defined mandate against their attending both, and vica verse. The condition is the result of a mutual misunderstanding. The pewgoer hears the theatre denounced, and, adopting a one-sided vicw he considers it improper that he partake of theatrical recreation. The playgoer learns of this denunciation, and he in turn bars the church. Thereafter the sermon and the play are heard and seen by distinctly separate audiences. The public has not learned to properly mix religion and recreation.

Were it possible to bring about a change and to establish the slogan: "Church in the morning; theatre in the evening," thereby sanctioning the theatre to the churchcoers and the thurch to the theatregoers, there would be more people at the Sunday morning service and the patronage at the Sunday evening theatre would be correspondingly heightened.

Theatrical recreation and religion are twin diversions, and should go hand in hand. Both should be properly mixed and each cherished and maintained with the zeal that promotes patriotism. The habitual theatregoer is necessarily one sided; the habitual worshiper is considered a crank. The person who enjoys both the sermon and the play is by far the best citizen.

The Friede Globe Tower, to be erected at Coney Island, will be a striking departure from any like structure ever designed for anusement purposes. Sufficient capital has already been interested in the venture to make the construction of the tower an assured fact. The land lease has been signed and the steel construction has been started under way. It will be next spring, 1907, before there can be any hope of putting the structure into public coumission, but we are assured that the Friede Globe Tower will be one of next season's attractions at Coney Island. Samuel M. Friede, its designor and inventor, has already created several amusement devices of practicable and profitable possibilities, including the revolving steel tower now in operation at Coney Island. Lack of space forbids a detailed description of the proposed structure, but by scrutinizing the above cut, a fair idea of its magnitude and colossal proportions can be gained.

How to # Illuminate

ILLUMINATION ADVERTISES

The fact that a brilliantly lighted park is usually visible for many miles around must also be taken seriously into consideration for its extreme value from an advertising point of view. Too great attention to this subject can hardly be given, for as soon as twilight falls the park in all its glory becomes visible within a more or less wide radius, and thus continually proclaims its existence to the outer world, consequently reminding it in a striking manner of the wonders and beauties to be seen within those portals.

That the question of illumination is of the utmost importance has been so often demonstrated that its effectiveness in attracting a high class of patronage can hardly be disputed, and its influence in controlling, in no small measure, the rowdy element must certainly be recognized. In fact, there seems to be gained by plentiful illumination, and no amount judiclously expended in this direction should be begrudged.

THE CLOWN'S ART

A man can't be a clown unless he is born to it, and if he is born to it he will be paid accordingly. It is not uncommon to find a clown of twenty years' experience, and when one such is found he is sure to be a real "artist" of a clown. He begins the work because he likes it, and he stays with it because it is his profession, says Jiggs Arnold in the Chicago Tribune.

In the old days a clown did not need to be anything but a clown. A few of them came out into the ring, leaped over each other or batted each other over the head with a rubber bag at the end of a stick. Now, that is all changed. The clowns all have their stunts except the "dubs" who are allowed to play the "minor parts." Entire companies of them appear in the ring at the same time and put on burlesques of no inconsequential importance.

The Well-known German Comedian.

It was at night that I in company with a well known contributor to The Billboard, Mr. Chas. E. Griffin, witnessed the "feet" and we were much impressed with the general arrangement of the entire concern, and more than surprised at the attention that was paid to detail in the lighting, also at the lavish manner in which the entrances to the larger concerns were decorated and Illuminated. The extravagance and splendor of some of these portable structures was simply astonishing and must be seen to be appreciated; so artistically were they constructed and lighted and in fact the whole as tructures was simply astonishing and must be seen to be appreciated; so artistically were they constructed and lighted and in fact the whole as tailing in Across the Bockies, is at an interesting object-lesson in effective "light" and artistic construction, from which at a starting in Across the Bockies, is at mg fulsome praise for his clever work both critics and theatregoers through the territory played by the above produce.

A STORY OF SOTHERN'S FATHER

One day E. A. Sothern, father of the present E. H. Sothern, who is playing in The Merchant of Venice, The Taming of the Shrew and Twelfth Night with Julia Marlowe this season, went with Mish. John Wood, the celebrated English comedienne, into an ironmonger's shop and asked for Macauley's History of England. He was a practical joker as well as an uncommonly good actor and this was only one of his whims. "We do not sell books, str." said the assistant. "This is an ironmonger's shop." "Well, I'm not particular," said Sothern. pretending to be deaf. "I don't care whether it is bound in calf or Russia." "But this is not a book-seller's," shouted the assistant. "All right," said Sothern, "wrap it up neatly. I want it sent down to the hotel. It is for a present I wish to make to a relative." "We don't keep it," yelled the assistant, "Etting red in the face. "Do it up as if it were for your own mother. I don't want anything better than that," said Sothern. "I would like to write my name on the flylear." "Sir," havled the assistant at the top of his volce, "can't you see that we don't keep books?" "Very well," said Sothern. "I would like to write my name on the flylear." "Sir," havled the assistant at the top of his volce, "can't you see that we don't keep books?" "Very well," said Sothern, and said he thought his customer must be off his head. "What is it, sir? What do you desire?" the proprietor asked of Sothern. "I want a file," said the actor, "a file, plain file, four or five inches long." "Certainly, sir," said of the shop with his purchase, keeping his face as straight as it had been all through the encounter.

DVICE is the cheapest thing in the world. Anybody but an attorney or a physician will give you as much as you will accept, absolutely free. So I shall not attempt to advise, but rather will give you a few reminders.

My park experience has been gained as an employee, and, therefore, I have had unlimited opportunities for observation. I find that the most successful parks are those where the management takes an interest in every feature, every attraction and every concession.

Season of 1902 I was at Delmar Garden, St. Louis, where things were nicely managed. But side attractions—of which there were many—would have fared much better if the management had the same system in use at the "Chutes" in San Francisco, where I put in ten months in 1903, Both of these resorts have immense theatres, seating in the neighborhood of five thousand people. At Delmar, the performances were given every night and Saturday matinee, running right through without intermission, except the time necessary for changing scenes and costumes. The theatre is nearer to the exit than it is to the "Midway," and after performances I have heard thousands of people say: Don't let's go to the Midway," and after performances in the theatre every afternoon and night. At the middle of the program there is an announced forty-five minutes intermission—usually lasting an hour—every person leaves the theatre; they stroil around, they visit the cafe, they shoot the chutes, they visit the cafe, they shoot the chutes, they visit the cafe, they shoot the chutes, they is that everything within the enclosure tends to that everything within the enclosure tends to

A few months ago I read an article in The Billboard, which was contributed by someone, stating that street fairs were beginning to be things of the past. The people are not growing tired of street fairs, but they are tired of the same old "snake eater," "dancing girls," etc., that are now with every carnival company.

In Relation The Fair

By L. E. Keyser.

(Written for The Billboard.)

ILE Horse Show, Bench Show and Pet Stock Exhibition are all valuable adjuncts to the agricultural fair, but the Poultry Show is the most inportant of them all.

There is probably no other factor that has done so much to educate the public to the importance of the American hen and the standard bred poultry business generally, as the poultry ahow. The show attracts a class of people not reached by the poultry press. From curiosity, many who are not materially interested in poultry visit the show or are drawn there by acquaintances who have such interest, and seeled the owners of some of these fine birds. Then they learn of the poultry papers, subscribe for one or more, and by reading become enthusiastic fanciers. Many of our leading fancicit today gained their first interest and knowledge of poultry fancy. It was originated before the "Standard of Pentertion" was compiled. It is consequently the father of the American Poultry Association and the Standard, which were necessary adjuncts to its continued such standard poultry.

in order to secure remunerative prices for their birds and eggs. Some strive for the glory and satisfaction of winning, the same as a man will study over a game of chess, and this satisfaction is more to them than the bope of monetary reward.

There is another class of men who become interested in poultry from r practical standpoint. They take the poultr papers, buy pure bred fowls for eggs or market purposes, and from their poultry papers learn and become interested in the shows and standard poultry. They visit a show or two, find their stock compares well with that on exhibition, and in a few years are enthusiastic fanciers. It is a noticeable fact that a large number of prominent fanciers are men who started in the market poultry and egg business. They knew nothing about poultry shows until they read about them in the poultry presss. So the press helps to make the show and the show helps support the press.

them in the poultry presss. So the press helps to make the show and the show helps support the press.

The small shows, and county fair, if it has a good poultry exhibit, are great factors in building up the standard poultry business. Some fanciers think it above them to exhibit at these small shows, but here is where they make a great mistake. More people whom it is easy to interest in standard poultry. This class do not attend the large shows, because their interest has not been sufficiently excited, but they often take up the breeding of standard poultry after viewing the poultry exhibit at a fair, and thus become purchasers of standard stock. The premiums offered may not be alluring and the chance of making sales at a long price is not good, but more can be done to increase the ranks of breeders of standard fowls by exhibiting at the fall fairs than one would naturally suppose. It is a sort of missionary work that fanciers should take up. They can only hope to sell some of their cheapest stock at first, but if the fever is once on a person, he or she will soon become ambitions to own better stock, and will be the buyer for several years. In the good old summer time. Mr. Is a great at a county fair than at many of the exclusive shows and the same are people whom it is easy to interest in standard poultry. ### FLAG RAISING DAY

June 14 is Flag-raising Day. Although it is one of the youngest of our national holidays, it is fast finding a large place in the hearts of the American people. The day was first recognized June 14, 1894, when the governor of New York ordered the Stars and Stripes to be raised on all public buildings in the state on that day, the one hundred and sixteenth anniversary of the adoption by Congress of our present national dag. The governor took this action at the request of the Sons of the Revolution. The day was fittingly observed on the same date in Philadelphia at the request of the Colonial Dames of America.

Since then city after city has fallen into the and observance of the day is wide-spread, if it can not be said to be general. In our public schools the observance is very general. Park managers can help the movement along by featuring it in their advertisements. We do not have enough holidays in America. We ought to strive to make Flag-raising Day at least a half-holiday.—Howard Jackson.

Tragedy deals essentially with people who have failed It is one thing to understand a principle in its application to oneself. It is quite another thing to understand it in its application te another.

ANECDOTES OF PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE

ODD AND UNUSUAL EXPERIENCES

Any story will do, if it concerns professional people and is a bona fide account of an actual occurrence.

It need not be news. It may, indeed, be history, provided it has not appeared in print before. It must be bizarre, out-of-the-ordinary, and it must be told in less than five hundred words. For the best one submitted on or before November 1, 1906, we will pay $25.00. Such others as we decide to use we will pay $3.00 apiece for. The remainder will be destroyed.

SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST

Some Easy Money for the Careful, Discriminating The Agents' Commission of Fifteen Per Cent to Be and Observant Among Our Readers.

Do you know any person or firm anywhere who would profit by reading The Billboard? If so, send us the name and address, mentioning the party's profession or business. Our subscription department will then, by means of sample copies, circulars and letters, endeavor every name you send us of persons or firms whom we fail to secure. The deduction of ten cents (which is less than one third of what it costs us to sample copy and circularize each name) is made to prevent contestants from sending in long lists of names copied indiscriminately is made to prevent contestants from sending in long lists of names copied indistriminately from directories, etc. No person can possibly win in this contest who does not exercise the very nicest discrimination in the selection of names submitted. Those of our readers who send us the greatest number of names of probable subscribers will be the winners. In addition to the dollar each as per above conditions, we will distribute prizes as follows: $25.00 to the person whose list yields the most subscribers and fewest failures; $15.00 to the second best, and $10.00 to the third best.

PROFIT-SHARING CONTEST

Divided Among Our Readers.

Do you know any person or firm anywhere who could advertise in The Billboard advantageously, but who is not doing so? If so, send us the name and address (mentioning the party's profession or business) and we will enter you in our PROFIT SHARING CONTEST, and mail you particulars of same. This contest, in which the prizes will be awarded monthly, bids fair to be the most popular thing of the kind ever conducted by a paper. We intend to divide afteen per cent. of the amount of the new business secured by contestants, as follows:

First Prize
Second Prize
Everybody has an equal chance. The prizes will be handsome sums. No canvassing.

While of course we can not even hazard a guess as to what each prize will amount to, we will guarantee that the first month they will be not less than as follows, viz.:

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR AN AD.

$100

Can you write a good advertisement? If so, here is a chance to earn a hundred dolarls. We want one. The wonderful efficiency of our Mail Forwarding Bureau is widely known in the profession, but few outsiders have ever heard of it. All over America are people with actors, actresses, performers and agents, whose address they have lost, and they have not the slightest idea of how to go about it.

Fathers are wanting to write to sons, mothers to daughters, sisters to brothers. There are attorneys anxious to find clients, executors trying to locate heirs and dispairing because they do not know how. They have absolutely no knowledge of our facilities.

It is up to us to inform them. We are going to advertise far and wide. We will use the magazines, the standard weeklies and the city and country dailies. It is for this pursone in the mediums we will use is expensive, and as our Mail Forwarding Bureau is profiless, save indirectly, the ad, should occupy as little space as possible. On this account it must be very terse, the fewest possible words should be used. Yet it must stick out of the page so as to catch the eye, snappy or smart enough to hold the attention and impressive enough to faster litself in the memory.

The story to be told is that anyone wanting to write to any actor, actress, performer,

The ad. must be clipped and with the writer's name and address pinned to it, must be mailed to The Billboard, Cincinnati, O.

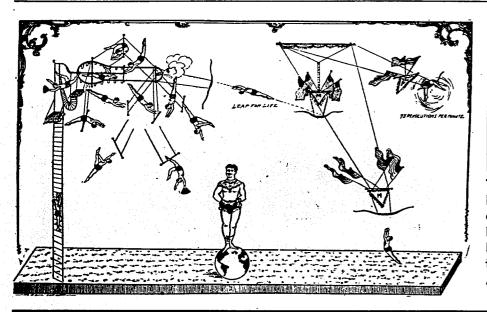

That is all. We will select the best ad. out of those received each week and publish it in The Billboard. The remainder will be destroyed. riplied with bewildering rapidity, and the expansion of this upbailding is apparently but in its infancy.

The ammanment park of to-day with its palatial baildings and varied features is a peculiarly evolved affair, and it is interesting to trace the influences that have contributed fragmentary parts to its make-up. It is a patchwork of the things that have served to thrill, perplex, amuse and dazale generations of men. The World's Fairs and Expositions of recent years undoobtedly furnished the central idea of a blend of novel architecture, landscape gardens, laguess and Oriental types as a setting for things more familiar. In its atmosphere we sees the phantom shadow of the old-time transity gathering—the gladiator, the knight in joust, the spangled buil fighter; across its plasss one almost sees the ghostly silhouette of the glit and tinsel pageantry stalk in fantastic majesty into nothingness. It has the remantic glamour of the circus and the memory of the eld county fair hangs like a mirage over the paddle wheel, peanut stand and merry-go-remas.

In its entirety it is a new creation. It has pushed its way in every direction. In the land of the Montezumas, Frederick Ingersoll, of Pittsburg, is now building the great "Mexicone" in the City of Mexico. Up in Winnipeg, Manitoba, another great park, "Happyland," is being constructed. Magnificent new parks will be opened this season in Scranton, Pa., and Washington, D. C. And there are many other great amusement resorts now being built is various American cities.

HAVE SEARCHED EUROPE

HAVE SEARCHED EUROPE

Hawk-eyed park prospectors have crosshatched England and the populous centers of Continental Europe in search of available locatiens. But ever there are numerous obstacles. The scarcity of choice sites is not the only discouraging aspect. The rigid building regulations in the municipal laws of the greater number of foreign cities are almost insurmountable barriers to the invaders. It is extremely impracticable to apply them to the remounte practices in amusement park construction. In many desirable communities the transportation facilities are inadequate and other minor obstacles are numerous. Australia and New Zealand have already surrendered to the American amusement park builder, and some of the South American cities are regarded as promising prospects. But these have serious drawbacks. The inferior character of the native labor necessitates the importation of skilled artisans. The cost of building materials and other adverse conditions, peculiar to that country, are discouraging phases.

The extension of the amusement park is not confined solely to the larger cities in this country. Its web-like ramifications extend into the smaller cities and towns. Sectional features are being widely constructed on a modest scale, and eventually the Figure Right, Scenic Railway and other familiar amusement devices will come into open competition with the general store for the nickels of the interurbanite.

SELECTION OF ATTRACTIONS

SELECTION OF ATTRACTIONS

Park managers are beginning to realize the vital importance of entertainment and direction in park affairs. The variety, character and quality of its attractions are weighed in a finer belance each season, and their value indeed with greater accuracy. With permanent features covering acres of ground it is putent that special transient attractions, or a shociate necessity. The pressure of competition from correlative angles—summer theatres, baseball, circuses, etc.—has led to the introduction of the great concert bands and the cream of acrobatic, aerial, equestrian and antract the public. This practice is gradually attimment. Last seems frederick ingersoil as an experimental measure introduced great openate bullets in his Pittsburg park with splendid success, and the innovation will lead to even some elaborate productions. ### MAUDE ADAMS

No American actress enjoys a wider popularity among the higher class of theatregoers than does Maude Adams, who is this year appearing in the title role of J. M. Barrie's elaborate fairy spectacle, Peter Pan. Her success in The Little Minister, in which she scored her greatest hit, will forever link her name with that play, giving her a singular distinction

VIOLA ALLEN

Viola Allen is this season repeating her personal triumphs in a Fitch play. The Toast of the Town. Though she inherited from her father a particular liking for Shakespearean roles, besides Twelfth Night and A Winter's Tale, her name has been linked with such successes as The Christian, In the Palace of the King and The Eternal City. She is descendant from a good old Boston family of actors, her father being C. Leslie Allen, the well known character actor.

HENRIETTA CROSMAN

Henrietta Crosman is this season starring in the Presbrey comedy, Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary, which promises to rival her great success of last year, Sweet Kitty Bellairs, by many considered her greatest success. Miss Crosman comes from an histrionic family which has given to the stage a long list of stars. Her engagement in New York will be one of the most important events of the season.

SCHUMANN-HEINK

"Well," replied the up-to-date manager, after a moment's thought, "I don't see why we shouldn't be ready to open in two weeks. Another rehearsal or two will give our star a good grip on her new mannerism, and after that there's nothing left but to write a play around it. Two weeks, I should say, at the sutside,"

Wilton Lackaye has been duplicating in the west the triumphs of a year ago in the east in the role of Curtis Jadwin in Wm. A. Brady's production of The Pit. He has also revived Trilby. His season opened August 11 in Duluth and ends in Chicago with the third appearance of the Norris story. Mr. Lackaye will shortly be seen in New York in his own dramatization of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, Les Miserables. Just what the play will be called has not yet been determined, but it will either be Jean Valjean or From Darkness to Dawn. Incidentally it may be mentioned that The Pit has coined a large fortune for the star and his manager, Wm. A. Brady.

SARAH BERNHARDT

Probably no foreign actress enjoys a greater prestige with the American theatregoing public than does Sarah Bernhardt of this season touring this country with her own company from the Theatre Sarah Bernhardt of Paris. Her repertoire includes Victor Hugo's Angelo and her own version of Adrienne Level and the convent, both new to American audiences, and serviced the convent, both new to American audiences, and serviced the convent, both new to American audiences, and serviced to produce a new Shaw lary with Miss Amy Robson in the leading role. LONGING

By Mollie Minor.

(Written for The Billboard.)

Oh. we're tired of bull briskets—
And good old chicken soup;
Made of rags and ravelings—
That never saw a coup.
Dried apple ples and doughnuts—
Made of shoes and turpentine;
Can you wonder that we're longin'
For that good old summer time?

We're longin' for a towel—that—
We don't meet for a week;
And a tick not sinfied with concrete,
And—we'd like to know a sheet,
That isn't quite as friendly—as—
(It surely is sublime)
We've used it all this winter—since
That good old summer time.

Oh, we're longin' for a chep house—
Far from the crowded street;
Where the boss ain't so exacting—
'Bout the little bite we eat;
Who snarls around the hangout—
With the store up close behind,
When we're shiverin' and a longin' for
That good old summer time.

At the glittering glidings
And color schemes fired
And the Eye gare a sigh,
And said: "Why is it I Should enthuse, while the Ear is so q
close by.
If you could but see
You would praise it like me,"
Said the Eye to the Ear. "I am sure to agree."
To the Eye said the Ear:
"I'm so glad you can't hear
All these tainted old jokes they've been spi
ing all year.
You can just take my word.
It's been worse than absurd.
Yon've seen pretty things,
But they're tough things, I've heard,"
To the Eye said the Ear:
"We'd agree that it's clear
If I hear what you see
And you'd see what I hear."

Oh, we're longing for the summer—
That dear old joyous time;
When the band in gilt and spangles—
Goes a thunderin' down the line.
With old age and youth commingled—
A marchin' right behind—
Sure—life is then worth living, in
The good old summer time.

Our old trombone slick and polished—
We've wired for our fare;
To take us to the country—
God knows, we care not where.
Just so we meet same people—
Who don't worship on a dkme,
And begrudge a poor wind jammer—
His goed old summer time.

The Modern Amusement Park

The Modern Every management of the limits of

The fun began right there. One person after another was turned back by the stoild gate-keepers, amid the shouts from those who had worked their way in and were watching the fun from every vantage point within the gates. The gatemen simply propounded the inquiry, "Immune?" If the person addressed said "Yes," the gateman laconically demanded, "Show me." If the party could not then produce a horse shoe, a rabbit's foot or a charm or sign of some kind, he was given back his ticket and turned back. It should be remembered that a charm was not necessary—a sign was sufficient. Anyone could walk in unhandered with his fingers crossed, but it was surprising to note how many people falled to tumble to what was required of them. Men would try and try again, only to be rejected, and each rejection raised a perfect howl of delight from the insiders.

The demand for rabbits' feet, horse shoes, lucky stones, etc., on the stands inside was immense.

integy stones, etc., on the immense.

Comparison of charms among acquaintances and their discussion afforded much amusement, while the awarding of prizes can be made very entertaining indeed by a master-of-ceremonies who is well posted on superstition and a good talker,—O. L. Spinks.

A BELASCO STORY

David Belasco, playwright and theatrican manager, was a newspaper reporter for some time. While so employed he put in a few days with a gang of tramps, in order to get "color" for an article he had been assigned to write. He found the hobos to be a merry lot, with as many stories as the end man of a minstrel show. One of them told in his hearing of having been given a mince pie by the young wife of a farmer. Next day the tramp appeared at the farmhouse again and said: "Would you be kind enough, madam, to give me the recipe for that there mince pie what I had here yesterday?" "Well, the idea!" cried the farmer's wife. "Lund sakes, man, what do you want that recipe for?"

"To settle a bet." replied the tramp. "My pardner says you use three cups of Portland cement to one of molasses, but I claim it's only two and a half."

"It was just like this: I saw it all. There's the push in the big top there; The Orvilles are doing their slack wire st LaBelle's on her snow-white mare. The bulls come on, with Conk in lead, And they work like silk that day, When the wind jammers do their swellest tunes—

tunes—
And, say, that bunch could play!

"Then in she comes, the feature act;
And they call her the great Lazell.
The band fan-fares, the push, it stares,
And answers her smile with a yell.
They pull her up to a perch so high,
Her hand resis on the bale;
And the top goes up, and then comes down,
Take the play of the waves in a gale.

"I had seen her make that same high dive Many t'mes as the seasen run; And every time she'd come from the net, Just as if she'd done if for fun. But, somehow, this time I wanted to call: "Don't make it; come down on the rope"; But I didn't play rum, I knew that the gang Would think I had filled up on dope.

"Then all is still the stall made good—
Great God! I can see it yet!
She waves and smiles dives thro the air,
And lands on the edge of the net.
Then hell broke lose in that breathless push;
And women and men turned 'round,
And buried their faces in their hands and wept
For Lazell crushed on the ground.

"Dead, that's all, just a life crushed out;
Another white soul leaves life;
Lost in the hazard, she played death's game.
And death made good in the strife.
We buried her there, in the Southland's arms,
Where the jassamines nod and bloom;
And a marble cross tells the world its loss,
And marks brave Lazell's tomb."

GOOD TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES

GOOD TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES
Good transportation facilities being the most essential feature in making an enterprise of this character a success, the White City management has arranged for the coming Season with various traction companies, whose tracks do not at present pass its entrance gate, to build spurs to the park in order that its patrons this year may be handled with greater speed and comfort. This, it is believed, will undoubtedly increase both the railway companies' and the park's receipts over last year. In addition to the devices mentioned, as now any other one resort in this country. There has been a general renovation of the entire plant and a modernizing of dress, and a filling out in the way of new attractions which will make this resort a delightful fairyland for young and old.

EVERY NEW PLAY A GAMBLE

So much of the element of chance is involved in play-producing, so slight is the dividing line between fallure and success, that the manager, after repeated fallures, is very likely to lose confidence in his own judgment, and, eliminating his own personal opinion, make his choice entirely on a gamble. They tell the story of how a well-known manager, who had produced in rapid succession four plays, on each of which be had lost money, came across a manuscript which to his mind seemed to contain all the essentials of success. The playwright, grown weary of the manager's long silence, finally sought him to learn his opinion.

"Do you like my play?"

Am a Circus, And I am IT! I am composed of several thousand Different parts and particles, Not counting the reinpests. They're unaccountable. But reinpests bring good luck, So let it go at that. My name is legion. Some call me Barnum, Ringling, Bailey, Cole, Robinson, Campbell, Wallace, Main-It's all the same to me. I'm the "Big Thing;" The biggest and the best in the world, No matter what they call me. The morning breezes toy around And flutter up my banners. Horses prance, lions roar, music everywhere. The thronging crowds beneath my canvas Wonder where I come from And where I go to-I'm so big. The shades of evening fall; The lights flash up and withal die again. I fade away into the night And reappear upon the morrow A hundred miles away. My children swear by me And at me. They criticise my management, And would do thus and so Were they in charge. ### To Street Fair and Carnival Managers Carnivals Have Passed Experimental Stage and Should Be Raised to Higher Plane.

(Written for The Billboard.)

HEN a fad in the amusement business, if you choose to call it by that name, develops such proportions by reason of its popularity that conservative amusement many thousands of dollars in that line to supply and equip attractions to tickle the passing fancy of the public, it is then time that we give the subject the serious consideration it deserves.

Street fairs and carnivals are the peculiar form of amusement alluded to, and readers of this article will agree that those attractions have long since ceased to be mere fads or passing fancies, but are entitled to be numbered among the several established forms of popular pastime. This is proved quite conclusively by the number of successful street fairs and carnival companies touring this great country of ours every season and the vast amount of capital invested in them. Invidious comparison between the great and the small, the originators and the initators, the successful and the unsuccessful need not be made here: Bach has its place in the general plan, though some few may not reflect great credit upon the amusement business. But the purpose here is to bring importance of this peculiar feature of popular amusement.

Street fairs and carnivals have passed the experimental stage; so, instead of handing, out the usual line of arbitrary rubs and instructions to carnival committees that handle such events, and who are, in the majority of instances, fully informed as to their duties, it is better to consider the subject here from the standpoint of the experienced showman seeking to establish himself firmly in the esteem of the public and to raise his company to a higher plane of productive efficiency.

NO BET RULE TO FOLLOW

auspices the engagement is given as well.

A BECORD BREANER

The coming season indicates that it is going to be a record-breaker in the history of street fairs and carnivals. Now is the time for your promotor to get busy. You can't book your attractions too far ahead. If you have a good show don't fail to let the people know it—the sooner the better.

The function is more popular than ever. This is clearly demonstrated by the spontaneous organization of local associations and the appointment of committees by commercial clubs, fraternal societies, etc. It is generally conceded that no city or town can hope to ride the crest of the topmost wave of prosperity without a struggle for supremacy. The surest way and most rational way to keep in the fore front rank is to advertise, and there is no advertisement better than a well-ordered street fair and carmival.

Bon't be atraid to advertise, and there is no advertisement better than a circus. The people these days judge your company a great deal by your advertising. The success of the street fair depends in a great measure upon judicious advertising, and it is not well to stretch the truth beyond the breaking point with a view of making gorgeous announcements which you can not hope to fulful. The outlook for the street fair and carnival business was never better than it is to-day. Wake up and reap your rewards. There is something in store for the companies that have got the right kind of attractions.

How Uncle Tom's Cabin Came To Be Dramatized

By DOCTOR JUDD.

(Written for The Billboard.)

T was only a short time after Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous story, Uncle Tom's Cabin was out, that it was seen to contain dramatic possibilities, and Charley Taylor, long connected with Purdy's National Theatre in Chatham street, New York, was among the first to grasp at them, and on August 24, 1852, produced the first version seen in New York. It was hastily written, a mere "catch-house" affair (as he afterward acknowledged), ignoring Topsy and Eva altogether. affair (as he afterward acknowledged), ignoring Topsy and Eva altogether. It was all Uncle Tom and George Harris. Meantime, the "Uncle Tom," by which is meant the version that has kept the stage till the present day, grew into being at the Troy Museum under singular and interesting circumstances. George C. Howard was the manager of the theatre at the time, and had been for a year or so. The play of the evening was Oliver Twist, in the adaptation of which was a child's character, that of Little Dick, the sick pauper boy, who takes a tearful farewell of Oliver as he runs away from the poorhouse. Without any idea that she would be more than a "dummy," it was suggested that Little Cord my," it was suggested that Little Cormy," it was suggested that Little Cordelia, the manager's four-year-old daughter, be dressed as Little Dick, and placed behind the paling for Oliver to talk to; but when at rehearsal, the mother, Mrs. G. C. Howard who was playing Oliver, caught the baby up and went through the scenes the little thing responded just in the proper place. responded just in the proper place, "Dood by—tum again." "Well, now." said Mrs. Howard, "if she is going to do anything like that, better teach her the lines." And, accordingly, during the day, in her mothers' lap little Cordelia was taught the speeches of Little delia was taught the speeches of Lit-tle Dick. Night came; the fat baby face was skillfully painted to repre-sent consumption, and duly clad in her brother's suit, and with a little spade in her hand. Cordelia Howard made her first appearance and the speech suit and the speech suit.

THE GROWING POPULARITY OF PARKS

By James. L. Glass.

(Written for The Billboard.)

(Written for The Billboard.)

The growing popularity of summer parks can be attributed to one prime factor—the improvement and advancement of outdoor amusements. The lack of patronage in the past was not brought about by a desire for other entertainment, nor because the people had exhausted their resources by attending winter amusements, but because the parks did not amuse.

The rise of the street fair and carnival business set the "pace," and the lesson has been learned by park managers, so that to-day a modern park partakes of a big carnival with the added expensive attractions that make it doubly desirable to go to.

It is stated by competent authority that there has not been a single park failure from legitimate causes in the past three years. This being the case, demonstrates that it is the safest and least hazardous of all branches of the amusement business.

This rosy situation is brought about by causes not visible at a casual glance. The disadvantage of depending upon winter time for show going is brought conspicuously to the fore—even the weather conspires to depress business, rain, snow, sleet and mud all lend their littic mite to keep people away from the theatre, and just at the time when patronage is the best, old Christmas steps in the arena and prostrates business, with such force that it never recovers during the season. And then the blue birds sing, the majority of road companies close, and the park season is on.

RAIN IS GREATEST ENEMY

RAIN IS GREATEST ENEMY

The greatest enemy to parks is rain; but if the park is constructed right, with ample depot facilities and provided with covered walks leading to theatre and attractions, there is no reason why ordinary damp, rainy weather should greatly interfere with park business.

The greatest mistake a park can make is to scatter the attractions. A compactly built park is nearly always a money getter. It is safe to estimate that when attractions are close together and easy of access, the earning capacity is fully thirty per cent. greater.

Another great factor to park success can be traced directly to the individual efforts of concessionaires who own their attractions and personally direct their operation. Ten years ago the scarcity of competent concessionaires would have defeated united effort to successfully install and put in operation the fifteen hundred parks said to be in the United States and Canada. Thousands of bright men have been going to school in the carnival business and the bringing of this learning and practical experience to parks and applying it in an intelligent way wins dollars and success for individual effort.

A free gate, or paid admission to a park, is wholly a local affair, and no set rule will apply to the different communities where parks are operated, but when the people are there, the handling of the crowds profitably is pretty much the same everywhere.

"A stew."

"A stew."

"You are always in a stew," remarked an Ethiopian comedian who was always attempting to maintain his reputation as a funny man.

"Huh!" exclaimed the Old Person. "You never ought to wash off the cork. You are as smart as the Dutch musician who traveled with Sam Sharpley when Sam first went on the road and was not overburdened with capital. As a manager's luck sometimes runs, Sharply met with a streak of bad business and suspended the payment of salaries during the financial stress. And that was where his head was clear for there was no need of sacrificing the show on account of a temporary embarrassment. Savings banks have a sirty day notice clause to protect them in a panic or scare. Sam held the boys down pretty well until one night one of the comedians and several of the principals struck just before the curtain went up and openly vowed that they wouldn't go on until they had their dough."

"They were not well-bred."

"Bah! Sam had to come to time and produce. There was a good house and he was by no means strapped. He was only guarding against the worst so that he could weather the storm and pull through bad territory. There was a Dutch musician in the company who was much in need of money to remit to his frau and he kept up a deuce of a thinking all through the performance, and when it was over he went up to Sharpley and said:

"Mr. Sharpley, if you don't gif me my money I won't wash up."

and said:
"Mr. Sharpley, if you don't gif me my money [ won't wash up."
Sam didn't settle. He turned on his heel and simply said: "Suit yourself."

OYSTERS AND MINSTRELS

"Speaking of oysters, recalls the fact that Thackeray, the famous English author, thought that the two best things he found in America—that is, in New York, and that is about all there is to America in my mind—was the oysters and the negro minstrels. He was a man of rare judgment. Eh?"

"You always eat stews?" suggested the genial proprietor.

"That is because I am always in a stew. Look over your collection of bills there and you will see that my name heads many a one as a partner or proprietor of a minstrel band, but I never got there with both feet. I always wanted to figure as a manager and all the naughts I ever accumulated were on the wrong side of the dollar mark. So you see, my funny friend, though very fond of the shell food, sometimes when in a stew my finances did not permit me to put a stew in me."

"Frank Siddals, the soap man who backed Lew Dockstader, made himself famous with his motto: 'Don't be a cism.'"

"What is the matter with, Don't be a lobster?"

"What is the matter with, Don't be a lobster?"

"No, I am not still in the profession?"

"No, I am not still in the profession. I am quite noisy. Conreid wouldn't have me in the opera, but. I think that to-day I can sing as well as ever Hughey Dougherty or Billy Arlington could. Young man, I am following my bent; sometimes I follow my bent so far that it is broke. I am not above my business and so long as I can use my banjo, fingers and legs
I, am in the game. If you must know I am plunking in saloans for what I can get, and after the concert I pass the hat. That beats being an object of charity on the Island. As the advertisements of the department stores have it, I give 'good value for the money.' Of course my voice isn't what it was, but I have it filed and set occasionally by a saw repairer. A banjo is about as good a thing to raise the wind with as a bellows, and many a banjoist has tuned
it to good account in an emergency.

HARRY WAS POPULAR

He was prouder than a turkey cock b fore Thanksgiving or a little boy with his first pair of trousers. When he returned to the hotel he remarked in triumph to the land-lord:

"He had the conceit taken out of him a few hours later. That afternoon the two wicked end men played both ends against the middle. Taking the center caller, placed for the middle-man, the unbeard able and overbearing, obnoxious Holmes, they manipulated the legs with a saw, weakening them with a cutting which was not perceptible except upon close observation. "The poster brought back thoughts of boyhood days down in the country, and there was nothing for me to do that evening but to saunter over to the schoolhouse, which I found crowded to the doors. As the evening was a dark one, most of the auditors had brought lanterns with them which they deposited on the outside of the building, making a front to the house that a Broadway theatre would envy I managed to get a seat, however, and watching the audience while waiting for the performance to begin, I was transported back to boyhood days, forgetting that there was such a thing as theatres and actors and the like.

WAS AN OLD-TIMER

"Wonderful Watkins proved to be a plump, rosy-faced person with a flexible face and jovial eye, and his entertainment was exactly what I remember having seen once at the old town hall when I was a little shaver of 9 or 10—the same good old jokes, the same storles, the same riddles, the same songs. I don't believe I missed a single boyhood favorite. In the ventriloquistic selection, he hauled out the two dolls I badn't seen for years, perched them on his knees and began the well-remembered dialogue.

"Well, Sammy, how do you feel to-night? he asks. 'With my fingers, how do you suppose,' squeaks Sammy in his high falsetto. Then Wonderful Watkins whacked him over the head to the immense satisfaction and amusement of all of us. When Mr. Watkins announced that by special request he would deliver a pathetic piece, I knew that he would favor us with Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night, before he opened his mouth, and when he asked for a ring to grind to atoms and fire from a nistol in his chaste seance of parlor prestidigiration, I was first to rush up to the platform and hand him a ring, I was so anxious to see the dear old trick done again.

"After it was all over, I met Watkins and found him a first-rate fellow. He told me he had been doing that sort of thing ever since 1885—had drifted into it by degrees, organizing his circuit of towns, making friends of the church and fraternity people, and gradually building up a clientele that was now as steady and regular as a clock. He sticks to small places, makes the rounds once a season, and is welcomed everywhere as an old friend. He is under next to no expense, and if it rains on any date he simply stays over and gives the show the next night. I thought of the trials and vexations of piloting a big company over the road," added Sparks, sadly, "and I envied the simple life of Wonderful Watkins from the bottom of my heart."

IN ARCADY

In Bohemia, little girl,
We are often glad that we
Let Dan Cupid's flag unfuri
To the world all-carelessly:
For, when all is said and done,
You will certainly agree
Love has had a splendid run
While we've been in Arcady!

I have heard of castles fine,
And of palaces most rare;
I this little flat of mine
With the best of them compare:
What are castles grim and great?
What are palaces to me?
There is not a grand estate
Fine as ours in Arcady!

I know sometimes it is rough
When we haven't got a cent,
And our luck is mighty tough
When we can't keep up the rent:
But we're always in good cheer—
I have you and you have me—
That is half the battle, dear,
When you live in Arcady!

I will find success some day
With my songs—I'm sure of it!
You'll be proud when critics say
That your boy has made a "hit."
So let's keep our spirits glad,
Meet the knocks unfilnchingly;
There's no time for being sad

"If you've never traveled with a fireworks show, you've missed a phase of life that would sure cure you of that blase feeling. It's just like circusing, only more so." And the reformed fireworks manager rested his head on the back of his chair and his heels on the office desk, and spun this plaintive yarn:

"There is really only one big fireworks company in the world, and only one company that puts out a big fireworks show on the road every summer. One summer it was managing this concern's traveling pyrotechnical spectacle, and we halted for two weeks at Philadelphia.

"Perhaps you've noticed, at state fairs, for instance, that about an hour before it is time for the show to begin, several rockets are fired into the air. That is done to 'get the wind' and to determine just about where the rockets are coming down. It's a small item to the uninitiated; but each of these sticks is an inch and a quarter in diameter and eight feet long, and as they go about a thousand feet high they come down in a devil of a hurry, as it were. The game, so far as the fireworks people are concerned, is to keep them from coming down and spoiling some disinterested citizen. Accordingly, we generally try to find an open spot, adjacent to the lot, where the rocket sticks can come down without making too much of an impression on the public.

Very few advertising agents of parks recog-ze the pulling mower of moonlight. Seldom Very few advertising agents of parks recognize the pulling power of monilight. Seldom indeed do you see it accorded a line on the posters or in the press notices, and yet it is a powerful inducement if properly utilized. Have you a lake at the park? Then why not "Moonlight on the Lake"? What's the matter with "Moonlight Rides," "Moonlight Strolls," etc.? Try it this season. It costs nothing and will attract many. ### Growing For Men Who Do Not Drink.

Total Abstainer Is Preferred to Even Moderate Drinkers-Draws Biggest Salary and Gets to the Front.

By BANKIN C. SMITH.

(Written for The Billboard.)

(Written for The Billboard.)

(HE New York Sun replies with moderation to the sensational charge of a minister that wine and spirits consumption is on the increase in fashionale society by declaring that the reverse is actually true. It says that it is no longer considered proper to indulge except to a Hmited extent in strong drink. All kinds of wine are used sparingly, and if a guest so far forgets himself as to become partially intoxicated he is immediately censured. The new view is a result of common sense and a more exalted idea of decency. Drinking of alcoholic liquor is now fully understood to be highly injurious not only to health, but to morals and business prospects, and the man or woman who makes of himself or herself a beast is justly regarded as undit to associate with other people.

Conceding that this statement is substantially true—as we have a right to do—it ought to occasion rejoicing. The growth of temperance in this country has been very rapid. Less than a hundred years ago the three and four bottle man was considered a true gentleman and bloodshot eyes and maudlin speech awakened no sense of disgust—more often the opposite. This view has completely changed with the development of general refinement.

TEETOTALEE HAS PREFERENCE

CIRCUMSTANCES HAVE CHANGED

What a change this is. Fifteen years ago the theatrical or circus manager who was looking for an agent always sought one who was widely known as a good fellow. These good fellows were invariably drinking men. They secured their hold on the regard of others by treating. They maintained it by more treating. In fact, all the popularity that they enjoyed was due to their capacity for booze. At that time, it was supposed that the good fellow secured better terms from local managers, bill-posters, newspapers, etc.

But it is all changed now. It is the man with sound judgment, business acument and a clear head that is in demand. The good fellow is now regarded as a chump. They are called boozers, rum-dumbs and drunks, and avoided like lepers.

There is only one way for the young man to get to the front. When he enters the show business he has to leave drink behind. If he seeks eminence he must cut it out altogether. There is no other way.

The brightest, brainlest men of the times, if they drink at all have not half the chance of the veriest dullard if the latter be sober.

These are facts. If you doubt it, ask any manager from James A. Bailey or Klaw & Erlanger down to the most humble in the business.

As I said before, this is not a temperance

ANOTHER WORLD'S FAIR

By Albert Austin Stevens (Written for The Billboard.)

As a matter of fact there can be no World's Fair unless the world exhibits at and attends it. This is true no matter how large the expenditure, no matter bow big the show. The intervals have been too short between times. We have not given foreign exhibitors and visitors time to recover from one before we crowd another on their attention. The result has been conspicuous by its absence.

The latest plan to mulct the federal treasury is that to celebrate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the Pacific ocean by Balboa by holding an "international exhibition of arts, industries, manufactures and the products of soil, mine, forest and sea," at San Francisco in 1903. With the close of the St. Louis Fafr it was hoped that we would enjoy a rest for some considerable time from those gigantic failures, but it seems that such is not to be. ### STREET FAIR GAME'S FUTURE

By Ralph A. Rogers

(Written for The Billiboard.)

In the street fair and carnival field, the pessimist reigns supreme these days. The croaker walks abroad and proclaims loudly that the game is dead. So constantly and tireleasity does he keep at his work that many, very many, of his hearers are beginning to believe him.

As a matter of fact, the game is not dead, not by any means. While there is no denying that it is sick—even dangerously ill—its recovery is absolutely sure and certain.

When it is finally on its feet again, it will be in better shape than ever before. The leasons learned will have a most salutary and lasting effect on all concerned. Experience is a great teacher. In the future those who depend on the business for a livelihood are going to guard against the mistakes of the past. They will protect their interests and protect them experience in the fashion to blame the present low ebb on the graft, on the coochee, oh promoters misrepresentations, on the railroads, on overpromising, and, in fact, on pretty much everybody and every thing except the right ones. The croakers are pretty much all agreed that it was the shewmen who killed the goose that laid the golden egg.

Now, doubtless the shortcomings of many midway companies, especially the smaller ones, were responsible to some extent. Certainly they did not help matters. But the chief cause of the deplorable alump must be laid at the doors of the local committee. The rapacity, incompetence and indifference of committee men has been simply awful.

and abuses now prevalent it would do much good.

Misrepresentation should be stopped. The coochee and salacious girl show should be shandoned. Knocking should be abolished. Rough grafters should be suppressed. In fact, it would do no harm to restrict all special privileges to straight percentage games for a year. But, shove all, the sinful waste of the present system of routing and booking should be brought to a dead stop.

Sound business principles, foresight and system should be introduced.

If the money now wasted and thrown away during the course of a season were saved it would pay fifty per cent, on the amount in-

The only trouble was to find a place for the boys to sleep, and a shake-down on the floor was welcome. The landlords were getting theirs in large quantities and turning away people. By the way, Sam Jack, the burlesque man, was a landlord then at Oil City and participating in the prosperity. GOOD AND BAD MEMORIES OF

When M. Coquelin, the great French come-ilan, was asked a short time ago if he ever forgot a part he had once played, he replied that he could at a moment's notice repeat any part he had learned in his early years on the stage. I have given the summer theatre question some study in the past and while we have ali classes of people to cater to in that line, the situations are not alike at the many parks.

However, I will endeaver to prove why good stock companies are more profitable than vaudeville bills.

In the first place, with a vaudeville bill you have the same bill all the week. While with a stock company, two, and in the smaller cities three. new plays can be produced each week, together with vaudeville between acts. This is a wonderful advantage from a box office standpoint, and not one park manager in a hundred can see it.

Second, if you have five acts on a vaudeville bill, and two or three are just ordinary, the entire bill is classed accordingly and the management suffers.

All park managers pay a certain amount each

George Grossmith's memory is little short of phenomenal, and yet on more than one occasion it has failed him lamentably. Some years ago he was giving an entertainment before Queen Victoria at Baimoral, and at Her Majestys request sang his popular song You Should See Me Dance the Polka. He sailed away smoothly enough until he came toward the end of the second verse when although he had then sung the verse over 2,000 times, he came to a full and ignominious stop. He continued playing in the hope that the words would come to him, but not a bit of it—they refused to come: and to the Queen's great amusement he had to begin the verse again before he could surmount the obstacle.

HALE AND GIFFORD

Report Many More New Contracts for Hale's Tours.

Infringements of Patents to Be Severely Dealt With.

Kansas City, Mo. (Special) .- Fred. W. Gifford, of the Hale &

Gifford Co., the well-known proprietor of Hale's Tours of the World, reports the acceptance of many more contracts for the use of his company's device during the coming season. The company's offices, Suite 940, New York Life Bldg., this city, have been the scene of much activity during the past few weeks, and it is extremely doubtful if ever before in the history of the amusement business any amusement device has sprung into such great popular favor after only one year's trial, as has Hale's Tours of the World. As is well known, the effect of this device is to give the spectator a perfect imitation of a ride on a railway train, trolley car or other vehicle. From the moment one beholds the elaborate front, which is an exact reproduction of the rear end of two Pullman coaches, until the entertainment is over, the illusion of a rapid railway journey is complete. It is but a short time since that many managers were of the opinion that moving pictures were on the wane, but Hale's Tours of the World promises to keep public interest in moving pictures aroused for many years to come. The great features of this concession which appeal to all showmen, are its low cost of operation, great earning capacity, absolute lack of danger to patrons, weekly changes of program, and many other advantages not possessed by other amusement devices. At this early date several plants are now in active operation, and literally coining money for the operators, principal among these being the ones at No. 308 State street, and opposite the Palmer House in Chicago, the place at No. 769 Market street, San Francisco, and the original Hale's Tours plant at Electric Park, Kansas City, Mo.

Since this invention was first exploited there have been a number of imitations put on the market, all of which have had but a short-lived existence. In speaking of this matter, Mr. Gifford said: "In view of the fact that a number of our customers have written us in regard to these imitations, it will probably be well to again call attention to the fact that Hale's Tours of the World is the only patented device of its kind in existence. Every feature of this invention is fully protected by patents numbered 767,281 and 800,190, and we are now taking steps to invoke the law against all infringers. Although these infringers have not interfered with our business to any extent, they should be made an example of. We have ample means to protect our patrons, and believe it to be to their best interests to have the infringers out of business. This end will have been accomplished in a very short time. In the meanwhile, it would be well for all park and property owners throughout the country to look after their concessionaires and lessees, and see that none are using infringements of our patents, as the owners of the property where the infringements are located will be made parties to the proceedings which we shall institute. It is amusing to us to note that many of the advertisements placed by our imitators refer to their device as having the 'patent applied for.' That is about as far as they will ever get, for when their affairs are taken up at Washington, it will be found that all of the various devices necessary to produce the illusion of the vehicle or railway ride, have already been patented by our company. This in itself will put an end to the imitators, but in the meanwhile we intend to invoke the law through the Patent Title & Guarantee Co. of New York City, which has guaranteed us protection against all infringers. Chief Geo. C. Hale, who has obtained over sixty other patents, has made an investigation of the character of these 'patents applied for,' and is resting easy as to the solidity of the basis patents owned by this company. In his epinion, no other devices producing the effect of Hale's Tours of the World will stand before the Federal Courts of the United States, and Chief Hale further says that Uncle Sam's seal and red ribbons on the patents now held by us means something more than 'patents applied

MR. BUTT-IN---687ft.

In our newest comedy production, "MR. BUTT-IN. In our newest comedy production, "MR. BUTT-IN," we offer the most laughable subject of the period. Mr. Butt-In is shown in four different episodes. First he tries to instruct a plummer on his job. Then he interferes with some bricklayers at work. Next he jumps into the ring at a prize fight. Finally he winds up in an insame asylum. The whole film is of beautiful photographic value throughout.

We have just purchased the State rights of the Ohio Mutoscope Co., previously operating in Ohio and Pennsylvania, and are now taking organized and were only captured after a hand to-hand fight in a sewer, the latter one of the most remarkable scenes tographic value throughout. tographic value throughout.

The Greatest Wonder of Motion Photography. Money Earner for Managers, Owners and Operators.

The highest standard and most perfect Moving Picture Machine ever built. An instrument constructed as fine as a watch and as strong as a locomotive, and the only moving picture machine that will stand up under the STRAIN of continuous running fourteen hours a day in Hale Cars. So simple and durable no repairs are needed, and so perfectly built that pictures are brilliant and absolutely steady. Positively not a bit of side vibration with new or old films.

Owing to peculiar lens construction the 1906 Polyscope gives a picture one-half brighter than any other machine made, and with the same amount of light at the arc. Just consider this one feature. Brighter pictures at even less expense for current and no bilis for repairs or failures and disappointed audiences. Refunding money for one good audience on account of machine failure means throwing away the cost of a good machine. Did you ever think of that? The Polyscope has no failures, and it has more real improvements and good features than all other machines combined. It is the latest and best, easy to run and almost noiseless, and a machine that wins the heart of every man who ever saw it at work. Operators take pride in getting better results "than the other fellow," and they do it with the 1906 Polyscope.

The price of the 1906 Polyscope with all its attachments, tools, perfect stereopticon, any focal length lenses, latest condenser mount and take-up attachment that will work either forward or backward, is $100. There are no extras, and this price is for either Chicago or Denver delivery. Our 1906 Model De Luke Polyscope Fireproof Machine, including fireproof magazines, cold-air-blast lamp house, automatic film cut-offs and every possible safety attachment, costs only $150, which is less than any other machine eqipped with magazines.

Remember, you can rewind your film in less time with our fireproof magazine than with any make of magazine, and with less danger to the film.

Remember, the 1906 Polyscope is in use in all of Hale's Tours Cars in Chicago and other cities.

HALE TOURS OF THE WORLD FILMS-By special arrangement with Messrs. Hale & Gifford we are making Hale's Tours of the World Films in sets. 15 sets ready, and more to follow. Send for circulars if you are interested.

......POLYSCOPE FILMS ARE SURE MONEY

The Holdup of the Leadville Stage, 700ft.

THE DAISY GIRLS WITH THE LYMAN TWINS

The above picture is an excellent likeness of the charming little comedienne, Miss Patti Rosa, and her pretty Daisy Girls, in a scene from The Lyman Twins in The Rustlers with whom she is appearing in the part of R uth Cathem this season. This popular little lady has been one of the features with the Lyman Twins company for several seasons, and is not only a clever entertainer, but has a singing voice of remarkable sweetness. Miss Rosa is the daughter of the late Patti Rosa, and is endowed with the same charming personality which marked her parent's successful sareer.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 5, 1906.

Fred, A. Dubols, formerly of the Belasco forces, who attempted to wreck Nixon & Zimmerman's Miss Bob White Co., and get away with their funds, has been caught in Sloux of the salary or the idea of singing in NIXON & ZIMMERMAN.

Mr. Wm. A. Brady possesses the courage of his convictions. That certain so-called critics in New York are unfair is generally known. That they ought to be exposed is admitted. We hope that Mr. Brady will succeed not only in visiting upon them the opprobrium they deserve, but in drawing them out of the business.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Arthur Randolph, lately with the Brownie Balloon Co. in Texas, will confer a favor by addressing his father at Ft. Worth, Texas.

In the city where he was born, the hundredth anniversary of Edwin Forrest was fittingly observed March 9. In the shadow of the handsome and stately home which he built and dedicated to the old and retired actors, the most beautiful and impressive cerimines were held in honor of the event. Many eminent actors, actresses and students of Shakespeare from all over the country were present and over the country were present and participated in the celebration.

But as to the actual origin of the fire show graper, it is believed to date back to the time, when, in 1886 the famous fire at the Theatre Royal, Exeter, England, took place, in which so many people and firemen lost their lives. After this fire, a movement was set om foot in the surrounding district, to obtain a large sum of money, whereby the widows and orphans of the firemen who perished in this fire might obtain some substantial relief. This matter was very enthusiastically taken up and the naval men stationed at Plymouth and Davesport determined to get up an entertainment on a large scale for the benefit of this fund. It was them that the idea of using burning buildings for a spectacular effect was evolved, and to this end they obtained permission to burn some large barns situated in a park near Plymouth. By means of a liberal supply of paint, they transformed these barns into dwelling houses, and having filled them with old live barrels, explosives and chemicals, they arranged for what promised to be a very spectacular fire.

end in view no expense will be spared to make it a grand success.

All the old attractions will be retained, and many new ones will be added. Fair Japan will be enlarged and remodeled. D. Okaniks is on his way from Japan with six Geisha girls and nearly a ship load of war pictures, novelties, plants and brick-a-brack for this Oriental attraction. Manager Weaver has just closed a deal for a $6,500 carousal, which he promises will be one of the finest in the west. A Traver Circle Swing will also be added.

Wm. E. Clark will again manage the vaudeville theatre, and will do the booking for the same. W. C. Byerson will again have charge of the advertising and publicity department.

PHALEN PARK IN LINE

Manager Jacob Barnet promises that Fhales Park, St. Paul, Minn., will be the most popular resort west of Chicago this season. Among the many improvements will be along the line of illumination, and many thousands of incandescent lights will be placed along the walk from the station to the island, where the amsements are located. The island is to be resodded and beautified by elaborate floral designs.

Among the attractions will be a new Traver Air Ship. Prof. Casselle, of Lakeview, Mich., will make balloon ascensions daily for ten weeks commencing May 30. There will also be weekly fireworks displays and concerts and daily nignics.

agers and proprieters of summer parks, who have is mind a curtailment of their expense in electrical illumination. The term "recently" is used skuply in a comparative sense, for the "Newcode" receptacles have been tried and tested in practical and extensive use at many summer parks and places where electricity is used for illuminating purposes.

The notable success achieved by their use at Dreamland, Coney Island, upon the famous Dreamland Tower, is one of the striking demonstrations of the usefulness and expediency of the new Stanley & Patterson invention. Dreamland Tower is a monument of light, its brillings radiating for miles around, and its light turning to daylight brightness the immediate section of Coney Island which falls under its are of illumination. In this tower and among the hundreds of other places in Dreamland where electricity holds illuminating sway with such famous predigality the "New-code" receptacles are in exclusive use.

It is easily that important items of saving to those who use the Stanley & Patterson "New-code" receptacles are in exclusive use.

It is easily that important items of saving to those who use the Stanley & Patterson "New-code" anystem of receptacles comes in a decreased use of the soldering torth and iron, insulating paint and tape. The "Newcode" receptacle does the work without these, and does it better, it is asserted. There are many technical solvantages which the unsophistically predicted paragrapher can not explain; there is the manufacturers' claim that there are no exposed contexts, and that, along with many other advantages, it is the only device which fully meets the Nixthonal Code Standard. Suffice it here to apply that the summer park manager who directs his electrician to investigate the claim of the "Newcode" devices will profit, and amply, too, thereby. AERIALISTS WANT PARK

VING PICTURE MACHINES AND FILMS FOR HALE

We will offer in the course of a few weeks the Edison Exhibition Model Kinetoscope modified by ourselves, in combination with a moving picture lens to project a picture 11x81 feet in size at a distance of 24 between lens and curtain. This enlarged picture at a short distance is made necessary because the view is seen by the audience from the opposte side of the curtain, and because the locations of these Hale Tour Cars never furnish a long distance between instrument and curtain for the projection of a large picture.

MARCH 17, 1906.

Price of the Edison Exhibition Model Kinetoscope without take-up, and without stereopticon attachment, with Kleine device for near work and extra short distance lens, $115.

We now have received quantity stock of the following foreign films for the Pullman car work, and will be able to make immediate deliveries. The films are all of Pathe make, and under our contract with the Pathe Cinematograph Company we have the exclusive control of these subjects. The quality of the Pathe films is so well known hat no comments are necessary.

Roll No. 1 includes: A-"Engadin in Switzerland." This film was taken from the front of a moving train and shows a trip up the Swiss mountains between Chamonix and the Mont Blanc. The railway runs to the top of the Engadin. This is the region of perpetual snow, and the traveler wends his way through numerous tunnels and over many chasms. This film can be delivered tinted for a moonlight effect or without tint for a day effect. The moonlight effect darkens the film somewhat, but adds to its beauty. B-"A Trip Across the Alps." This view was taken from the rear of a train and presents delightful mountain scenery. C-"Thibidado." Another mountain scene taken from the front of a moving train, the character of the scenery being somewhat different from the two preceding, and furnishes variety. Shadowy mountains are seen in the distance, and at the finish of the roll the train approaches a village nestling in the mountains. Approximate length of Roll No. 1, 625 feet. Price $85. Roll No. 2—"Ascending Mt. Pilate in Switzerland." This film is taken from the engine of a cog railway which carries the traveler to the top of Mt. Pilate and to the famous hotel which is annually visited by thousands of tourists. Approximate length 500 feet. Price $68. Roll No. 3—"A Trip Through the Island of Ceylon." This film is made with the camera on a moving train and runs through a tropical country showing luxuriant vegetation. After a run of half the film there is a short pause, during which we see the native boys diving for coins. The trip is then resumed.

Approximate length 280 feet. Price $38. We have samples on hand of the following Pathe subjects, which are appropriate and can be joined to other films, but the variety is not yet great enough to make up complete rolls from 600 to 700 feet, and these short films will not be sold at present. Ample stock is under way and will reach us in the course of four weeks.

SEEING BOSTON—Length 400 feet. Price $50.

This is a moving picture film showing the streets of Boston, adapted for the Hale Tours, made for us exclusively by the American Mutoscope and Biograph Company.

We also have in transit a quantity of films for the Hale Tours drawn from different European makers. These subjects will be ready for delivery in the course of ten days. Other films are being made exclusively for our customers to be used in connection with the Hale Tours. The films drawn from American manufacturers for this purpose, and which are of variable quality, are as follows:

BY RAIL THROUGH THE CANADIAN ROCKIES—Length 303 feet. Price $36.36.

This is a fairly good film, which is taken from the front of a train, but shows a great many railway curves, with the engine and forward coaches in sight.

TOURS

RUNNING THROUGH GALITZEN TUNNEL - Length 140 feet. Price $16.80.

The negative from which this film is made has been in existence some six years, and is no longer in first-class condition; the film will answer, however, in case of shortage of other good subjects.

UP BROADWAY AND ACROSS THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE-Length 350 feet. Price $42.

This film is of comparatively recent origin, but the negative is somewhat worn; the great interest which the audiences take in this subject, however, makes it a very desirable film.

PANORAMIC VIEW OF ALBERT CANON—Length 175 ft. Price $21. A good panoramic railroad film in Canada, view going forward.

HAVERSTRAW TUNNEL-Length 200 feet. Price $24.

The negative from which this film is made is old and defective.

THROUGH THE DELAWARE WATER GAP-Length 125 feet. Price $18.75.

This is made from a new negative and the camera follows the car in front, showing the rear platform, upon which stands a young lady. The panoramic view shown at both sides of the track as the train passes on, is photographically beautiful.

It should be stated that the class of films required for Hale Tours has not been popular in theatres of late years, and on this account very few subjects are of recent origin. Of those which are available some are made from old and scratched negatives. Those which we offer of Pathe make are recent, and fine prints can be delivered; especially do we recommend "Engadin," "Mt. Pilatus" and "The Island of Cevlon."

Our London agent examined the entire stock of panoramic negatives of a well known English house, and out of 20,000 feet found about 1,000 feet to be usable. We are examining every available foot of material in England, and find a large fraction disappointing in quality, and as such we would not offer.

We have placed an order with the Pathe Cinematograph Company to make several new subjects for us exclusively; a single one of these pictures calls for an investment of $3,000 (the value of the smallest quantity which would warrant the taking of the picture), and the variety of subjects which will be made up will depend upon the patronage which we receive from picture buyers.

The American Mutoscope and Biograph Company has been commissioned to make a number of desirable American panoramas to be sold exclusively by ourselves.

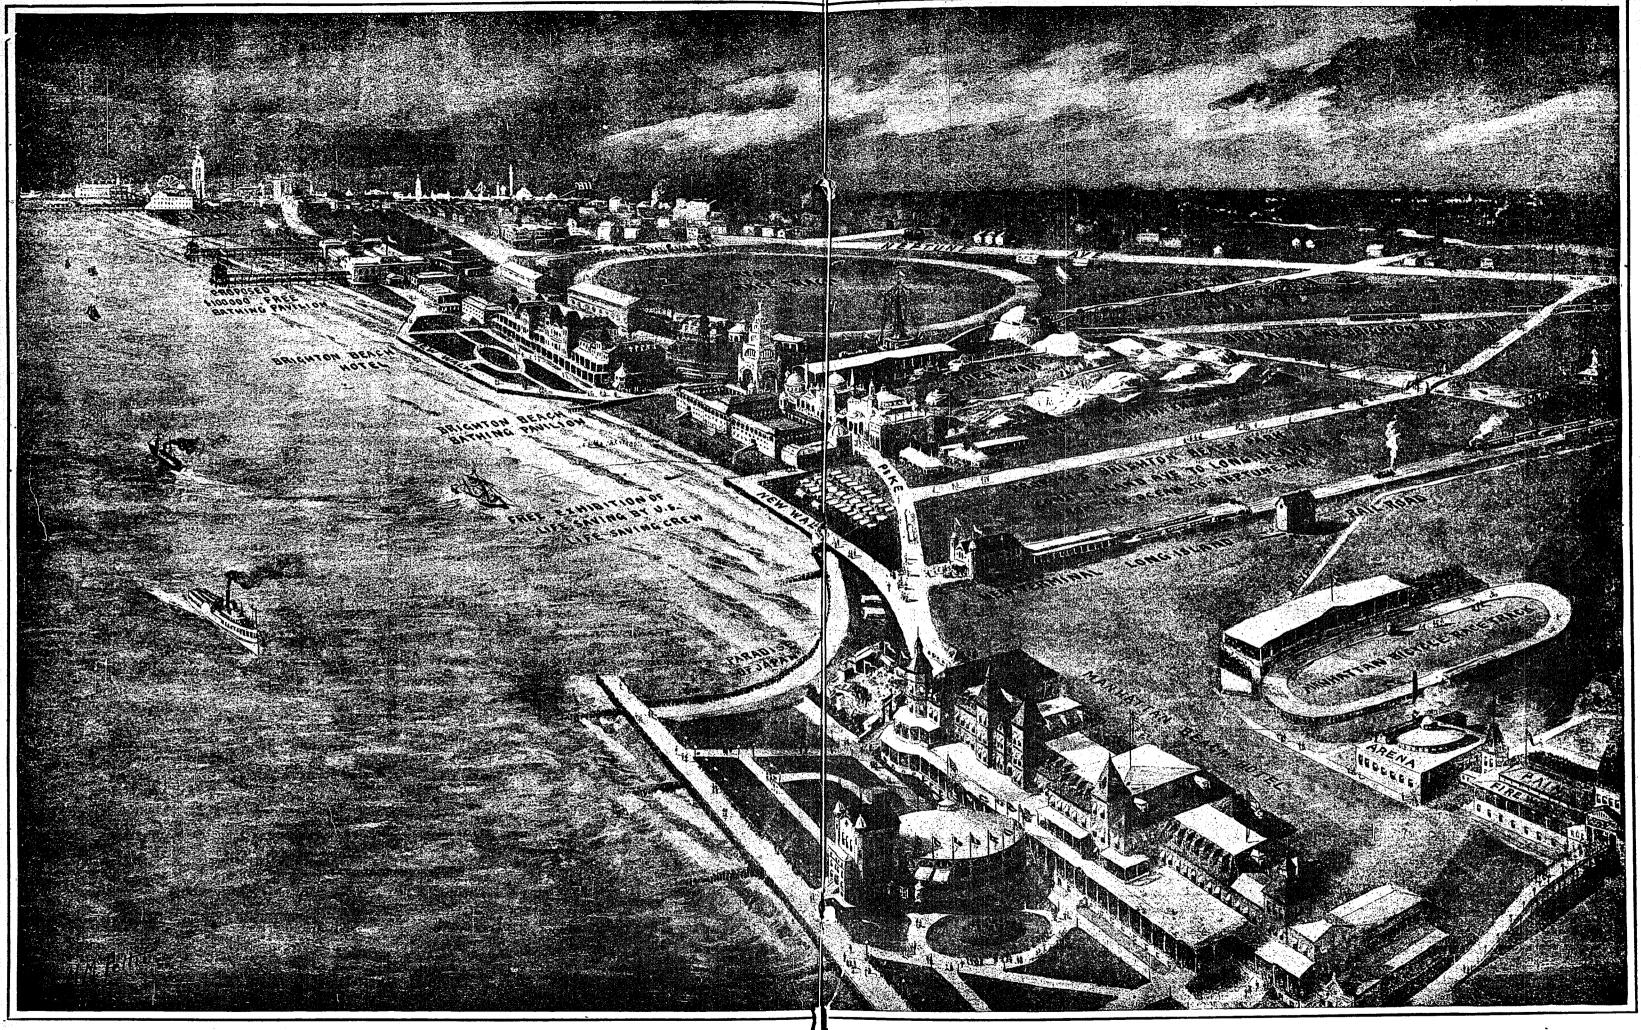

At the best the variety of subjects will be limited. If buyers distribute their orders among different dealers it will not pay any one of them to risk heavy investments, and the list will remain limited. We bid for the entire business, offering every subject that others may be able to furnish, as well as a variety of the choicest films which we hold exclusively.

We equipped the first two cars opened by Messrs. Hale & Gifford at Electric Park, Kansas City, in 1905, and have been in close touch with the inventors ever since. These experimental car shows were extraordinarily popular, and there is no doubt about the scheme sweeping the country during the coming season if exhibitors will procure the right pictures and eliminate fakes.

NEW YORK'S NEW PLAYGROUND—A BIRD'S-EYE VIEW SHOWING THE CHANGES IN CONEY ISLAND FROM MANHATTAN. BEACH TO WEST BRIGHTON

Within ten years Coney Island has become the chief near-by recreation place for the people o New York, and now bears about the same relation to old Coney Island that Greater New York bears to old Manhattan Island. The present shows and concessions, some of which cost $50,000 to establish, with other improvements and extensions already planned, will make Coney Island the largest amusement ground in the world.

RIDE-

Copyright, 1906.

Patent Jan. 16th. 1906.

A new amusing electrical and mechanical device, in which the occupant takes an imaginary automobile ride of intense interest, and during the trip are introduced many laughable, exciting and sensational features, such as are required to meet the demands of the pleasure-seeking public. Owing to its low preliminary cost and its great earning powers I am sure this will prove the most profitable and novel attraction of the coming season.

STHE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS THE EATING THEREOFT

The best proof we can offer you of the steady, every-day earning qualities of "The Parfact Match-Vending Machine," is the unsolicited testimonials of over 400 pleased and satisfied customers, who operate from 1 to 500 of them in their territory. All that they say you will also verify by getting them started in your territory. You need not hesitate as far as a good paying investment or income is concerned. Place them in good locations, the rest is up to the machine, and they don't fall to work while you sleep. We are winding up the third series of 1,000—making three thousand "Perfects" built, assembled and in spected right since September 15. Don't that tell you the story of an Honest machine and Honest business methods?

Of this amount there is over $10,000 on hand. Of this amount there is over $10,000 on hand. Of this amount there is over $10,000 in the general fund. Referring to your letter asking my opinion of the Base ball Gallery, would say that I consider Gallery Baseball one of the very best training methods for putting one into proper condition for the ring, as it not only develops every muscle in the body, but it is one of the best means of quickening the evesight I have ever tried.

ORIGINATOR OF MINSTRELSY

The originators of minstrelsy were certainly a "hig four." In the days of small things in minstrelsy, Charles White, the immensely popular performer and negro delineator of the Melodeon (Bowery, New York) wrote and sang: "We are from a place we don't know whar, Ten miles from sea and land; We've traveled all this Continent Wid dis one darky band.
"Our names are Julius, Clem an' Crow, Wid Erastus and his brudder; We all belong to one family," But never seen one anudder."
It will be noticed that Mr. White only men-

We all belong to one family.

But never seen one anudder."

It will be noticed that Mr. White only mentions five people in his ditty as being members of the company.

Frank Brower was, during his career, a feature of larger organisations, conspicuously that of Sam Sanford in Philadelphia. His last engagement was with Duprez & Benedict Minstreis, Philadelphia, season of 1800-70.

"Happy Uncle Frank," after his fettrement from Sanford's company opened stasloon in a one-story structure on Ninth street, below Market, Philadelphia. It was a small band-box affair which the proprietor waggishly referred to as "The Foundry." The dispensary was liberally patronised, especially during the theatrical and minstrel season, which was also the period of rest of a great number of circus attaches who made the Quaker City, their bome.

Bower was aware of the value of advertising, and inserted in the Public Ledger, Philadelphia's oblinary organ and daily Bible, an announcement that the beer he sold was contained in "a vault nine miles under ground." The morning the advertisement appeared an early customer called and ordered:

"Frank, give me a glass of beer from the externe end of the minth mile of your vault."

verusement appeared an early customer called and ordered.

"Frank, give me a glass of beer from the extreme end of the ninth mile of your vault."

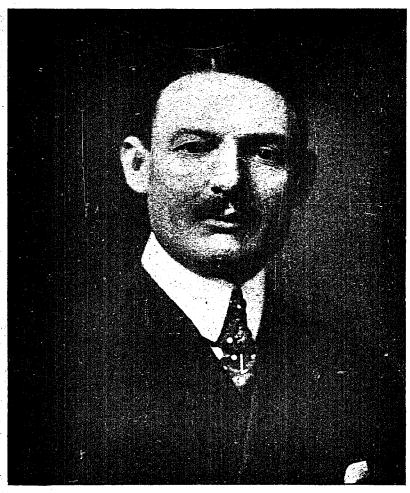

Bower replied, "All right," made no move to wait upon his smart patron, but took a seat and fell to perusing George W. Child's diurnal. The man in front of the bar stood and stood, shifting from one foot to the other until loseing all patience he exclaimed wrathfully:

"When are you going the five me that ale?"

Brower looked up, the picture of injured innocence, and replied: "How quick do you suppose you can get a glass of beer from nine miles under the ground?"

WAS FRIEND OF FORREST

AT FRANK BOWER'S

Above is pictured Harry Hardy, contracting agent with the Ferari Brothers Shows United the past season. Mr. Hardy has been connected with some of the most successful theatrical companies en tour. The past few seasons, however, has been devoted to the carnival business, Mr. Hardy appearing successively in the business department of the Gaskill-Mundy Shows, the Great Gaskill Shows and the Ferari Brothers Shows United. His experience with the above organizations in every department, including promoter, excursion, press and contracting agent, has given him a thorough knowledge of the carnival business. Mr. Hardy has the faculty of making and retaining friends which he numbers by the score both in and out of the profession. His policy is never to misrepresent, which enables him to go back over the same territory, do business with the same committees, and be greeted with a warm welcome year after year.

Edwin Forrest and Frank Brower were great personal friends. The famous tragedian, the most exclusive and distant man to be imagined, and his friend, the enstwhile minstrel man, might be seen of an afternoon sauntering down Chestnut street, chatting familiarly. Frequently furrest would drive up in front of "The Foundry" and bold converse with its proprietor. The tragedian in his early days had been a negro minstrel and a circus athlete, and it is likely that Furrest and Brower had worked to gether under the white tents.

One winter's evening, at quite a late bour, a hilarboardy happy individual arrived at "The Foundry" and proceeded to patronize the bar largely and evince a disposition to do sill the place was doing a standing-room-only business.

The place was doing a standing-room-only business with a previous night and the performance of both minstrel halls being over the same territory, do business with the same committees, and be greeted with a warm well in the profession. His policy is never to misrepresent, which enables him to go back over the same territory, do business with the same committees, and be greeted with a warm well as the proving a drink has proprietor. The tragedian in his early days had been a new contact the white tents.

One winter's evening, at quite a late bour, a hilar-look pay in difficulties that park managers are now contending with. They will simplify the business systematize it and make it more satisfactory and profitable.

TAIRS

(Written for The Billboard.)

One of the most crying needs of the day is more an electric crocus among parks. The circuit is economical. It is a money sary tooth for the park on the one side and the performers or attractions on the other. It save world, to decid edinitely, if the currical business is on the wane, or still will be classed by reason of this, till saves for the park by enabling it to secure its features for less money. Sory for practically every artist or manager is willing at odivide equally in the matter of sooses is on the wane, or still will be classed to offer. It saves to the park by enabling it to secure its features for less money. The common of the carrival agreement of the carrival in the carrival agreement of the carrival agreemen

RETURNING TO SAME CITIES

In cities where these misrepresentations have not prevailed, and the carnival management have fulfilled their contract, and if the shows have pleased, then one will find that that city wants its annual carnival. Last season in nearly all of the cities under the latter conditions, the business surpassed the previous season, and very seldom did the gross receipts fall below; in nearly every instance if the receipts decreased it was occasioned by unfavorable weather.

ceipts decreased it was occasionated able weather.

The question of how to retain, or sustain the interest, to increase the receipts, or even duplicate last season's business, is a momentous one, and should be given careful consideration before the opening of the carnival sideration before the opening of the carmval season.

If the carnival managers will give the public new, novel and at the same time pleasing shows, and free acts that are capable of drawing and holding carnival-goers, the carnival business will be, no doubt, as good, if not better, than last season. The mistake is in returning to the same cities season after season, with the same attractions, same advertising matter, same old features, same everything.

The public can not be blamed for losing interest, and the committee should not be censured if they are not easer to contract. For the proof of this it is only necessary for one to notice on the opening night of an engagement, amusement-seekers looking for something new, and particularly a novel attraction, after sauntering along the line of attraction, after sauntering along the line of attractions of fered for their amusement, if they should happen to discover a novelty how very readily will they pay to see it, and how very willing and anxious are they to tell their friends if it is pleasing or otherwise.

The big circuses change their features sea-and anxious are they to tell their friends it it is pleasing or otherwise.

The big circuses change their features season after season, and go back over the same territory and get the business. The park and permanent amusement resorts change their features every season, and do the business. The merchant changes his wares every season, introducing up-to-date novelties, and does business. The manufacturer each season places upon the market new and improved articles in every line, and does business.

The carnival of to-day is a commercial business. A carnival organization that will change their shows, features, free acts, advertising each season, same as in all other industries, there isn't a question but what they can return and get business, too. Be original, be truthful, and, above all, do not misrepresent.

WHEN THE CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

By Thos. M. Young

(Written for The Billboard.)

For a week before its advent
None of us can sleep a wink,
But upon a crumpled pillow
Lie awake, and think and think
Of the airy, fairy rider
And the funny, amusing clown,
And the glorious time expected,
When the circus comes to town.

8 a salesman for a reliable candy house, doing business with fully seventy-five per cent, and perhaps more of the concessionists at theatres, parks, picnic grounds, with theatrical and circus troupes, I must say a very few of such concessionists get all there is out of their business. I say this, for in my many calls on the trade I have seen many instances where trade gets away from them, and to make these cases clear would like to write of them.

Will-o'-the-wisp, she flouted me, A smile, a glimpse of gown!— When I'd get on at one, she'd be At four—and going down!

I loathed the elevator lad; He'd stop the cage and grin: "You off at seven. Mr. Madd?— Miss Ella isn't in!"

Thus Cupid planned to drop and soar, While I, the jest of Fate, Would read the "Out" sign on the door— Then tramp the steps to eight.

..... THE PROFITABLENESS OF BILLBOARD ADVERTISING.....

I take no credit to myself for the organization of Fairyland. It is the natural result of BILLBOARD publicity. I say this from the most honest and sincere standpoint, with a desire to keep others in the organization of outdoor amusements.

A little history of Fairyland organization is now in order.

After finding a suitable location and signing leases for a term of ten years, the securing of concessions and installing of amusements were next in order. We had no line on a single concession who wanted to come to Fairyland. We talked to several, with indifferent success, and not until our page appeared in THE BILLBOARD did we have an opportunity to close with a single concession or an available employee.

The replies to the first ad. were voluminous in the extreme. Hundreds of applications for space and privileges were received, and the appended list of attractions was the result. The half page ad. used two weeks later brought what was lacking, and now every available space has been disposed of, and to-day the musical rap-rap of hammers and the swish-swish of saws tell of the work of an army of union workmen, JAMES L. GLASS, Gen. Mgr. proving the profitableness of BILLBOARD advertising.

THE IDEAL PARK!

Fairyland Park, Memphis, Tenn., is positively the Greatest Park proposition in America, combining Location, Management and Availability.

ability.

Fairyland is just fifteen minutes ride from the business center of Memphis, with one of the best car systems in America, double tracked throughout. and large, commodious cars, and in sufficient numbers to handle all traffic, with a five cent car fare and transfer system throughout the city.

Fairyland adding Memphis law.

Fairyland adjoins Memphis' largest and most popular public park and is practically an amusement addition to the park. At a safe estimate, fully Fifty Thousand Dollars will be invested in amusement and the structure of the safe and the safe

Fairyland will draw its patronage from a quarter million of people who are eager for the park and its attractions, with no gate additional control of the park and its attractions, with no gate additional control of the park and provided the park and p

Fairyland has received the en-lorsement of both public and press, and the co-operation of the treet Car Company and the Park Fairyland will be advertised in Fairyland will be advertised in the most extensive and effective manner, both in the city and out. Memphis is one of the healthiest cities in America, and the most prosperous; a wide open town, where the people seek amusement and have the price.

Fairyland will be open on Sundars for the enjoyment of the thousands who will attend.

SOUTHERN PARKS WANTED

Parks which are already built or in course of construction will bleased outright or managed on per centage basis.

The advantage of a booking arrangement with a park of Fairy-land magnitude and prominence will be readily appreciated.

will be readily appreciated.

I am in a position to install all kinds of amusements where five and ten year leases can be arranged.

Competent management will be rendered on a per centage basis of increased receipts of park, and the park put in a circuit that will insure first-class shows and outdoor amusements away above the average in excellence.

I specify Southern Parks tributary to Memphis for two reasons:

ist. The advantage of close bus-iness relations with Fairyland so as to enloy the advantage of book-ing shows and the exchange of amusements will result as a mutual benefit.

2nd. The South offers the largest and dryest season for summer awusements, making the season doubly profitable by a season of double length.

Then we figure that Southerner are the greatest lovers of outdoor amusements. The soft, balmy all of the South has the peculiar influence of bringing patrons to legitimate outdoor attractions.

Special Announcement to his Majesty MR. PARK MANAGER

E BEG TC ANNOUNCE THAT THE COLONIAL FIREWORKS CO. manufactures DISPLAY FIREWORKS exclusively. We do not cater to the jobbing or retail trade. Our sole aim is to give the Park Managers what the people want—that is, first-class Park Displays. We acknowledge no rival or competitor in the production of FIREWORKS DISPLAYS. Last season proved to many Park Managers and Street Railway Owners who operate Parks on their lines that as a drawing card on an off night there is nothing they could offer compared with a first-class Pyrotechnic Display. Mr. E. A. Capretz, who for the past fifteen years has been connected with the world's largest manufacturer of Display Pyrotechnics, spares no pains or labor in the manufacture of Electrical Tints, Novelties and Colorings. We have arranged a series of Park Programmes, under the supervision of Mr. Capretz, ranging in prices from $75.00 to $500.00, which we would be pleased to furnish you on application.

THE KING OF MONEY GETTERS 1906 MODEL

AUTOMATIC PARISIAN ICE CREAM CONE OVENS.

Positively the Best Cone Oven on the Market.

WHY? BECAUSE-No more measuring out batter; no more burning fingers; no more rolling cones; no more cones of all sizes, shapes and thickness-does away with disagreeable method of shaping the cones on the hot irons and holding them in the hands until sufficiently crystalized to turn loose.

HOW-Dip core in batter, insert in oven and PRESTO, out comes a true cone

Other Reasons—Requires only % amount of batter needed to make a cone in the old way. This item alone, in a season, will pay for several ovens and depth. The ice cream cone industry is too bly a bonanza for hag back on a few paitry dollars. Buy an up-to-date outfit and get in on the blg money that will be made this season. We are the originators of the ice cream cone business WARNING—We are the inventors and sole manufacturers of these accommendatio evens—we have compiled with all the requirements of law; and we warn an accommendation of the public these ovens are only sold by us and our authorized agents.

Shows The Big Ones In The Lead

Maude Fealy Scores In On The Quiet -Mary Hall In Elaborate Play -Notes Of Interest.

ILLIAM COLLIER is the particularly bright theatrical newcomer this week and although be is offering a play, On the Quiet, that is far from being new to Boston audiences he is doing capacity business at the Fark. A number of changes have been made in the cast since the play was last seen here, and the part of Agnes Colt is now in the hands of Maude Fealy. Miss Fealy, has, in this character, a part that seems to have been made for her, and she and Mr. Collier divide honors each evening. The settings of the comedy are suswally striking and effective.

We all thought that Frank lianiels had broken all records with Sergeant Brue, at the Colonial, but Mr. Richard Mansfield is certainly alling that theatre to the doors at every performance. On Monday night he opened with Beau Brummel, to more than capacity and this, his "farewell appearance" week, proxises to be the best he has ever done in this city.

This week is the closing week of Miss Eleanor Robson's Boston engagement, at the Hollis, and she is presenting for the first time in this city the new Fitch play, The Girl Who Has Everything. It was with great expectations that the public waited for the curtain to rise on Monday night, and none were disappointed Fitch has indeed fitted Miss Robson with a vehicle that may long be a prominent piece in her repertoire.

For two weeks past Mrs. Leelle Carter has stated and the sections and research beauting sudlenges.

CECIL SPOONER'S NEW PIECE

Ceell Spooner, growing tired of routine stock work, has decided to try the road for a season, and accordingly Charles E. Blaney has written a play for her in which she will star under his management. It is a regulation Ceel Spooner role, and her fencing and dancing specialities will be introduced.

The manuscript was recently read to the star's mother and sister, both of whom were very enthusiastic over it, while Miss Spooner is delighted with the stellar role. Mr. Blaney will spare no expense in producing the new play.

NORRIS & ROWE

Their Season At Santa Cruz, Cal., March

HE Norris & Rowe Show opened its season at Santa Cruz, Cal., lits winter quarters, March 10, scoring a hit that augurs well for the young glant of the west. The day was an ideal one and the patronage was limited to the capacity of the enlarged tents, the citizens of Santa Cruz turning out en masse with their country friends to give the opening performance of the show the ampleious sendoul it deserved. Business in Santa Cruz was suspended.

The foremest and most noticeable feature of the opening performance was the pleasing smoothness with which each turn followed or preceded the others, and the utter absence of a kitch of any kind. Norris & Rowe were there with the goods, and Equestrian Director Jos. Gelsler pushed it forward with the true sange of western enterprise.

These who scored success and recognition on the program were Edna Maretta, Frank and Bolile Miller. Grace Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hocum, Austin King, Herbert Rumley and Geowhite, for the rining contingent; the Stirk Family. the Four Pleard Brothers, the Suglesset Troupe of Japanese lady performers, a troupe of Arabs, Rose and irene Maretta, Martis and Grouth, Lucler, the Malcolms, Deming and Grouth, Lucler, the Malcolms, Deming and Grouth Lu

CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS FOR PICTURE MACHINES

59 Dearborn St. CHICAGO

What a change has come over the Moving Picture Turn in Vaudeville and everywhere. Three or four years ago, when the Moving Pictures came on in the Vaudeville Theatres, you would see over half the audience would put on their wraps and take their departure.

Notice the present day Vaudevi le Audience. They all stay now until the last "Good Night" slide is thrown. The answer is easy.

Some of the best brains of the country are now devoted to turning out the finest things in Moving Pictures. Take, for instance, MILES BROTHERS. There are four of us with at least the usual amount of brains, and we think dream, walk, talk and see nothing but Moving Pictures. Everything is a Moving Picture to us. Our entire time is devoted to improving the business in general and our rental service in particular.

We never overlook a chance. If you want to get the benefit of this constant effort and get the best service that brains, energy and close application can produce, write us at once for terms.

GREATORE PLEASES LONDON

Guiseppe Creature, the Neapolitan Sousa, a fiery musical genus about thirty years old, is now amusing London. He conducts without a line of music before him. His band of 80 has 14 cleritonets, uses trumpets instand of cornets and keyed instead of slide, trombones, while another feature is frequent sud "starting trumpe on the big drum. Creatore is a sort of musical Svengali, with dark hair and eyes suid, hypnotic power over his musicalans, who play philliantly, under his eccentric gestures.

MARCH 31, 1906.

ITH the opening of spring, the air of the entire country fairly hums with preparations in the seething domain of outdoor amusements. One may travel where he will—north, south, east or west—and the same conditions confront him. Parks, fairs, carmivals, circuses, etc., are all getting in readiness, or are already in shape, for the season's rush and profits.

Readers had scarcely recovered from the surprise caused by the appearance of the sight-seeing Pullman car, when their attention was riveted on the sight-seeing Trolley. In each of these illusion contributes largely to the enjoyment of the tourists aboard, as they feel the sensation of movement while taking in the sights of the world.

It remained for a Chicago man to devise the spopular Trolley device, which promises to respar inch harvest for the company exploiting it. The trolley car is a familiar sight to everyone, but the new use to which it will be put can not fail to invest it with a charm hitherto unknown. It will take time before one will be nouncements made by the conductor of these nouncements made by the conductor of the nouncements made by the conductor of these magic trolleys. It will sound like a voice from dreamland to hear the call, "All aboard for Coney Island," when one is strolling down State street, or the achieving of the impossible to take a trip to the Vatican and St. Peters, Rome, while one is cosily seated in a trolley that never moves from its position on Clark street.

Kerry C. Meagher, for the past eight years treasurer of the Ringling Bros." World's Greatest Shows, has become identified with Mr. C. E. Kohl's executive forces at the Majestic Theatre, Chicago, having reaigned his position with the circus. Prior to assuming charge of the Ringling Bros. financial department, Mr. Meagher was for two seasons contracting agent for the big circus organization and after thirteen years' consecutive service on the road has decided to settle down.

WHITE CITY ENLARGES

Through the acquisition of six and one-half acres of ground, Chicago's million dollar amusement resort, White City, takes on an added degree of importance. The park now embraces twenty-two acres. The deal for the extra ground was consummated last week. Fully three hundred thousand dollars has been organized the press bureau in the administrative offices of white City. Maurice Beifeld's Chicago Fire will be one of the new features.

The Bolte & Weyer Co. has just completed.

The United States Tent & Awning Co. are now engaged in making one of the biggest stretches of canvas ever used for amusement purposes in this country, for Talbot's Fighting the Flames. This with a number of other big orders is keeping this enterprising firm of tent-makers busy with day and night shifts. Chicago supply houses were never busler than they are this spring, and the coming season promises to be the greatest in the history of show business.

The Unbroken Engagement is the title of a very clever vaudeville vehicle from the pen of Edgar C. Blum of this city.

Circus Museum Menagerie Wild West

EVOLUTION OF THE CIRCUS (Written for The Billboard.)

O institution in the world has a greater value in the process of broadening hamanity than the circus. Its growth, in a general way, evidences human progress. In the world's history, shows have always been interesting features in the entertainment of man. The great shows of ancient Rome generally took place in amphitheatres built in the form of a circle, the most magnificent of which was the Collseum, whose imposing ruins still exist, the wonder and the admiration of all visitors of Rome and of which the Saxon pilgrims were wont to say: "While stands the Collseum, Rome shall stand, and while Rome stands—the world!" Vespasian began the Collseum in A. D. 72 from designs by Gandertins, a Christian architect, who was afterward martyred. Titus dedicated it in A. D. 80, when five thousand beasts were slaughtered in the arens, and the games in honor of the event lasted over one hundred days.

CUMMINS' ADVANCE FORCE

Col. Cummins isn't leaving anything undone that will promote the success of his excellent organization. The advance force has just been organized, and work is well under way toward the consummation of the vast amount of work necessary before a big show takes the road. Col. Cummins has shown particular care in scollecting his advance force this sesson. It is as follows: W. E. Ferguson, general agent; A. E. Mosely, railroad contractor; A. J. Dixon, local contractor; Chas. Phillips, press agent in advance; P. W. Harold, manager of advance car No. 1 with twenty billposters; D. J. Leyden, manager car No. 2 with twenty billposters, and S. G. Mass, manager car No. 3 with ten billposters.

A GRAND FEATURE

The big feature of the Hagenbeck Show for the coming season, the nature of which has here-tofore been a closely guarded secret, is out at last. It is "Carl Hagenbeck's East Indian Perahera," a colossal congress of athletic acrobats, necromancers, snake-charmers, sap-wallahs, sword swallowers from that enchanted land. Their costumes and curious conveyances accompany them and purely as an exhibit they are intensely interesting.

Among them, however, are performers whose work is truly wonderful. As a whole, the feature promises very great satisfaction.

MORROW ORGANIZING SHOW

James A. Morrow, who has been associated with Sig. Sautelle and who recently closed with the Cummins' Wild West, is organizing a show at Homer, N. Y. He has purchased a car load of horses, and ordered tents, lights, wagons, etc. The Morrow Show opens at Corulad, N. Y., May 11.

The Hagenbeck Show is using a courier this year that is a dream. It is twenty pages, 11½x16½, with a cover lithographed in merous and handsome, and the text written by Jim DeWolfe is truly excellent. It is from the press of the Courier Litho. Co. of Buffalo. and is one of the very best pieces of advertising matter that it has ever been our good fortune to examine.

The Limit is a remarkable exhibition. A young lady is strapped securely into an automobile, it dashes swiftly down an incline and at the bottom the crowds away from the Garden lize the show with its accustomed libtalking about little else that they had seen. The "Dip of Death" is less spectacular, but is, in its way, equally thrilling. The opening display of beautiful costumes, fine horses and stately parades make "Peace" a beautiful sight to witness.

Beaches, Piers. Pleasure Resorts

DALLAS WANTS TO LEAD

Dallas, Tex.. has come to the front with what will, from all appearances, prove one of the most handsomely appointed summer parks in the Southland. The Cliff Park and Theatre Co. has secured fifty-six acres of land. beautifully situated, within seven minutes ride of the centre of Dallas, and it proposes to expend at least $75,000 in buildings and park improvements. As much more, perhaps, will be put on concessions of various kinds.

One of the biggest features of the new resort will be a mammoth theatre seafing between 2,000 and 2,500 people. It will cost about $720,000. The stage will not only be equipped with all of the latest electrical appliances, but will have hydraulic connection with the lake, so as to admit of water shows being put on.

A splendid natatorium will be erected at a cost of $10,000, and a magnificent clubhouse will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. There will also be established a Zoological Garden that will compare with anw Zoo south of Cincinnati. There is a natural lake covering twenty-six acres which serves to beautify the site and to render more pleasure to the patron.

Some of the leading business men and capitalists of Dallas are back of the proposition, and no expense will be spared to make this the most complete pleasure park ever backed by southern capital.

PARK CHANGES HANDS

Lakemont Park, the popular resort of Altoona, Pa., will hereafter be conducted by the Amusement Company of Central Pennsylvania which has leased the resort from the Altoona Amusement Co. for a period of ten years. The new company has just been organized and application will be made April 5 for a charter. Lee T. Shannon, Charles C. Benshaw and W. H. Brooks, of Altoona, and James G. Samson and G. T. Montgomery, of Pittsburg, are the directors of the new company.

It is the intention of the new company to make a vast number of improvements before the season opens. Messrs. Sanson and Montgomery have been managing Rocky Point, near Pittsburg, and they are experienced in park management.

A CORRECTION

In the Spring Special Issue of The Billboard it was erroneously stated that Chas. T. Taylor is manager of Forest Park, Little Rock, Ark. The Park Amusement Co., of which Frank E. Wriggle, is secretary, has a lease on Forest Park and Mr. Taylor has a year's lease on the theatre.

PARK NOTES

B. F. Forbes, of Forbes and Forbes, the well-known vanderille people, has been engaged to manage the park and theatre at Pt. Gratiot, Dunkirk, N. Y., this season. The park is to be run on a larger scale than ever before. Besides the usual vandeville performance in the theatre, there will be band concerts both afternoon and evening, and other outside free attractions. The Buffalo, Dunkirk and Western R. R. has purchased the D. & F. road, also the road leading to the park, thus giving to Fredonia. Sheridan and Brocton people direct communication with boats from Buffalo, Erie and Cieveland. Mr. Forbes will make his headquarters at Fredonia.

Chas, W. Cessna reports that David

Campbell Co. of Birmingham, Ala., will install the attractions at East Lake, the Amous resort, and Jas. A. Lakin is erecting a building at Olympic Park, Chattanooga, for the installation of Tours of the World.

Plans are being made to greatly improve White City, Cleveland's prosperous summer resort. Manager Edward C. Boyce reports that as soon as weather permits he will put large force of men at work upon the resort naking improvements, and otherwise enhancing its value as a pleasure park. The park will be better illuminated this year than last, and there will be excellent bathing facilities.

An open-air vaudeville policy has been determined upon for Dream City, the new park which is to be opened at Pittsburg, Pa., this season. All modern amusement attractions will be installed. W. C. Cunningham is the manager.

Notes from the Cosmopolitan Carnival Co.: After a winter season in the south, where we covered all the larger towns, the company is now headed for the north. Business has been excellent at all stands, and everybody connected with the company is satisfied. While in New Orleans a band of Igorrotes was added to the feature attractions and they have taken top money ever since.

Francis Ferrari recently added to his superb animal show, eleven fine lions, three pumas, six leopards and three beautiful Bengal tigers. Thus angmented, this show will be a whale among its kind. THERE are two parties who are placing Motion Pictures before the public by the most attractive method ever devised. I AM ONE OF THEM. The other party or company have patents which, if infringed upon by any Park Manager, Owner of Store Room or Carnival Company, the said Park Manager, Property Owner or Amusement Company Will Surely Get a Bump. I wish to state My Device Covers Every Kind of a Vehicle and contains Claims Overlooked by Others. And, furthermore, just a little reminder—and it is no bluff, either: Any person showing Moving Pictures from an Open-sided Vehicle, such as a Street Car or an Automobile, where the vehicle is given the illusion of moving, will get several kinds of bumps, and all will come direct from me through my Patent Attorneys, Banning & Banning, of Chicago, the experts who drew up my claims, one of which covered Open-sided Vehicles, such as Street Cars and Automobiles.

Mr. Zarro, of Zarro's Enterprises, told me to-day, March 22nd, that he would build a Ballyhoo, such as a rear end of an Observation Coach, Street Car, Automobile or other Vehicle, which any one could use in the front of a Motion Picture Show, and deliver same to them upon the payment of the price he would charge to build such a Ballyhoo, but would not build the cars unless the party had the rights to operate as purchased from me. It is the method of showing the pictures which will constitute an infringement. The Ballyhoo without the car is like a trolley car without current.

This will be without exception the biggest event of the year. Free on the streets, under the auspices of the United Commercial Travelers. Five thousand dollars subscribed by the merchants of Charlotte for special features. Evey day will be a big one. Various committees are already hard at work on the Floral, Industrial, Automobile, Fraternal and Drummer's Parades. A big feature will be the parade of the Blue and the Gray. Including the State Militia, there will be 10,000 in line. The committees in charge have been working since Jan. 1st. Every business man in the city is hustling to make the May celebration a winner. Railroad excursions every day. This one will have eight weeks' billing. Charlotte is one of the most prosperous cities in the South, and at present is enjoying an era of great prosperity. The progressive business men are striving to advertise the town. The money is here. Conditions are favorable for a banner week. The illumination will eclipse anything ever attempted at a Street Fair. The crowd will be here. If you have got the attraction, we'll do the rest. WANTED—To hear from the VERY BEST tented attractions. Would like to hear from a strictly first-class Trained Wild Animal Show, an A1 Plantation Show, Refined Vaudeville; Katzenjammer Castle, Galatea, Ghost Show, Dog & Pony Show. In fact, any show that can deliver the goods will get big money here. Managers of Prince Nicoli, Millie Christine and Aimee write. Will book all shows on a reasonable percentage. This will be a harvest for concession people. Last year, with few attractions, the Crowds were here for the May Celebrait, any snow that can deliver the goods will get big money here. Managers of Prince Nicoli, Millie Christine and Almee write. Will book all shows reasonable percentage. This will be a harvest for concession people. Last year, with few attractions, the crowds were here for the May Celebra-Want to hear from an expert decorator to contract for city decorations. Extra work from individual business men. Can place two good picture maoperators. Want a good talker. To the right man we will pay a liberal salary. Want a high diver and Leap the Gap. Other out-door acts State all in first letter. No act too big for this week. We have four weeks (not twenty) after this one, and all under excellent auspices. Weeks of good towns, promoted and billed weeks in advance.

Keep your eye on Charlotte. Watch our ad. for special features and program. Address all communications to

CIRCLE SWINGS

In 1904 we manufactured, erected and financed 16 swings of a special make. Last year we made 27 of the improved style 2, shown at right. This is a more expensive machine, and we are selling a great many of them, but will make the cheaper type if desired.

A bond guaranteeing purchasers against all losses from infringment with either.

Our prices are low and your money is not eaten up in excessive profits, but goes where you get it back-in the swing.

Sold on terms that will enable you to pay greatest part of cost from the earnings. Obtain our proposition before deciding.

Shows Some Good Attractions

The Social Whirl Drawing Big Business To the Majestic-Busy Times at Wonderland are Sam Bernard at the Hollis and William Collier at the Park. All three of these houses are doing record-breaking business and turning them away nearly every night.

AT THE STOCK HOUSES

The stock houses are certainly getting their share at the box-offices, too. When Knight hood Was In Flower is making good at the Castle square and to judge by the houses it would seem that every one who voted for this play in the recent contest has been there to see list choice produced. At the Empire The Wife is the attraction, and it is doing very well. On the Frontier at the Bowdoin Square is a melodrama of the west that is always a winner and Miss Charlotte Hunt as the Indian princess is very charming.

The boards of the Grand Opera House are leid by Mittenthal Bros.' great scenic and electrical melodrama. The House of Mystery, and tholds the audiences spellbound. Big busiless.

OW about the high and mighty London critics, who think all creation trembles when they stoop to scratch their backs. Not one of these proud pencil pushers is a prophet or a son of a prophet, for a lot of the plays they have been "roasting" lately are getting there with both feet. It would seem that some things are made to be enjoyed, not criticised. As sarcastic Byron wrote:

Save censure; critics are all ready-made."

With certain high-class exceptions the London critics seem to be a clique: a lot of note-comparers who club together and decide together. One who skims over the daily press will often notice strange points of resemblance between the various write-ups. An eccentric note of marked individuality is very rare indeed, for these critics all follow each other like a string of geese in a gutter. They are "English, quite English, you know," and when anything American comes along they prick up their ears to the full and pointed height, and tell you how a thing that might do for New York is not good enough for London.

GOODWIN AND THE CRITICS

GOODWIN AND THE CRITICS

When Nat Goodwin came here with A Gilded Fool all these ungilded fools got after it and stabbed it till they broke the points of their pens. Nathaniel changed the drams just to humor them, but even then they continued to damn it with faint praise. They thought that Goodwin was a "good one," but that the play was not. Of course, as Shakespeare says, "The play's the thing." Now the great London public itself is quite friendly to Americans, and disposed to be much amused at our amazing eccentricities. There is always a bit of fair play among the best people here, and a few dissenters are even found among newspaper folk, who are not linked into the ring. Thus Harry M. Vernon, a bright and bold young writer on the Entr'acte, a newsy variety sheet, says this:

"It is entirely out of my province to deal with the "legitimate," but I can not get away from the chance of speaking on the "package" which has been handed to a popular American comedian over here. If the critics at seventeen shillings a week think for one moment that the above mentioned actor does not know just where the antagonism came from, they are greatly instaken.

"If those gentlemen write just what they are told to write, and whose fear of losing "the greatly favored manager's" advertising, cause their columns to be permeated with an odor of press agents' advance copy, will only bide a while, they will see that the contemplated American production of a London success will meet with the same treatment accorded the American citizen who came over here—only more so. The rubber ball will bounce back, and hit the man who threw it just as surely as your Christmas Turkey isn't a Spring Chicken."

WHERE THE CRITICS FAILED

Somewhat flushed from the trouble they gave Mr. Goodwin at the rather unlucky Shaftesbury, these knights of foolscap next turned their goose-quills on All-of-a-Sudden Peggy, another-American invasion. But this time the playsoers would not be led by the nose, and so great is the rush to the Duke of York's that they had to put the orchestra under the stage to get in two more rows of seats. Mr. Frohman canceled The Lion and the Mouse and impulsive Peggy will be the drawing magnet for many months to come.

Next the critics scored The Brigadler Girard, dilsting on its staginess, and sneering at the Houdini-like incident of the cabinet with the roped man inside. But the play is drawing big crowds to the Imperial and the many manselves.

THE DRAMATIC PLAYS

Now comes another piece from wild-it America. The School for Husbands, at the Now comes another piece from wildest America. The School for Husbands, at the Scala, which is tich picking for the wise men of London, as it has an old English setting. It belongs to the Georgian era, of which they say we know nothing, though I think our Fourth of Ju-New Year's belongs to the days of the Georges. Jessie Millward, who played the leading role most delightfully, woke the house to thunderous acclamation, as she is an old favorite here, and has been away about eight years. No doubt the piece will have a nice run, when the papers get through their grumbling.

Following this came a classical production at the Court, a revival of the Electra of Euripides, with the cultured and gifted Miss Edith Wynne Mathison as Electra.

The forthcoming Beauty of Bath, at the Aldwych, will introduce the twelve Bath Buns, sporting such names as "Spie Bun," etc.

At Terry's the new play The Judge's Memory, three acts wareless.

BURLESQUE, SKETCHES, ETC.

CAINE WILL WRITE DRURY LANE PLAY

Arthur Collins has just returned from the continent, and has arranged with Hall Caine to write the autumn drama for Old Drury. He will base it on his novel, The Bondman, but will depart from the original plot.

There is much red tape and official formality connected with the presentation of a new play in the boisterous burlesque. J. L. Toole, the veteran actor, celebrated his stream of callers, a great lot of flowers, may presents and countless telegrams from the best people. His health is fairly good.

Ignatz Bucher, a member of the American knock-abouts, The Karatos, was suddenly killed while doing a somersault at a masquerade ball on the Continent, having "cast" and struck on his head.

Min Talbort, the popular advertising agent of the Grand and Peoples theatres, has just recovered from serious illness.

A stock company will begin an indefinite engagement at Peoples April 2. Vaudeville will be featured between the acts.

Henderson, Ky., is to have a vaudeville house. The old Gahes Opera House will be reopened under the management of J. A. Fidler, of Kokomo, Ind.

N. J. Pausback, the scenic artist of St. Louis, Mo., is doing some excellent work at the Grand and Peoples theatres, where he is decorating the asbestos curtains.

The late controversy between A. A. Pedley, of the Grand, and Ramsey Morris, is receiving much-comment in the leading papers of the country. Mr. Pedlay requested his patrons to stay away from the show owing to the fact that Sothern and Marlowe produced The Taming of the Shrew against the wishes of the local management and theatregoers.

CHICAGO PUBLISHERS' NOTES

HIGAGO at present is enjoying one of the healthiest seasons in the history of local trade. Although there have been many calamity howers who have strenuously predicted that the Five-and-Ten Cent Stores would put many and divers crimps in the local sales, a painstaking and thorough canvas of the Chicago publishers and managers reveals the fact that, so far as a sales depression is concerned, they hardly know of the existence of music departments in these (as one publisher puts it) "inmocnous establishments."

casually remarked one publisher. "While we haven't as yet sold any of them, at the same time we could, with impunity, sell them our multiplication, and at a fair profit. "These stores have hurt us in no degree," cisually remarked one publisher. "While we haven't as yet sold any of them, at the same time, we could, with impunity, sell them our publication, and at a fair profit. I can not quite determine myself what some of the eastern firms get by selling their products to these stores, when one considers the enormous amount of money they put out in advertising and other channels. They are not producers, but rely upon the force they employ to produce the sellers for them. They must of necessity pay some royalities on these numbers, but I venture to say they do not give the writer what is coming to him in every instance. Jim O'Dea apity termed one of his royalty statements 'a misfit,' at one time, and I am rather inclined to the opinion that he struck it about right. I can sell to these stores at a far less rate than can a publisher who is not a producer. I have no three or four cents per copy to pay out in royalties or else trouble my conscience, but I have refrained from selling them purely and simply because I thought the men who inaugurated this game would get together with the ones who had afterward joined the throug and inaugurate some plan whereby they would eventually put a stop to such rate alsahing. Talk about Frenzied Finance! Why, the publishing business is under an equally note worthy mania, and one might well say we suffer from 'publishing fanaticism.'"

""Will ten cents be the rate universally adopted?" exclaimed another publishe., in answer to my query on that subject. "Not on your life. The boys just now are penny wise and pound foolish, but I believe they will soon get together and devise a means of putting a stop to the present methods of publicity. When we get together next June, you can pretty near wager all you have that there will be many radical changes introduced for the betterment of the business."

On Sunday afternoon, April I. General Manager J. Austin Fynes, of the International Amusement & Realty Co., opens the Third Avenue Theatre to vandeville as the first of a chain of houses which will eventually comprise a formidabel circuit of theatres in eastern cities. The policy of the house, two shows a day, at 10, 20 and 30 cents, will be a radical change from the melodramatic sway which has held forth there for the past several years.

Mr. Fynes makes no pretenses to "high-class" During the past week New York has easieved the excitement of a lively circus war, with the snow hardly off the ground. Barnum & Bailey, at Madison Square Garden, and International Reality and hundreds have been the contending factors. Thus far the war soming off with well-fattened pocket-books as result.

Madison Square Garden has been packed to its capacity and hundreds have been turned away throughout the week. Those who realize the tremendous holding capacity of that vast auditorium will realize what it means to turn geople away—and turn aways have occurred every evening. The afternoon houses are big, itso, and the receipts for the first full week of Barnum & Bailey's annual visit to New York will total a tremendous sum.

The Hippodrome does not seem to feel the empetition if one may judge by the attendance. At both daily performances the audiences are as large as they were before opposition ecopped up at the Garden, and that means big samess every afternoon and capacity every agint. It seems that while New Yorkers are
